BURGLARS STOLE $74,610 IN STAMPS

Crawled Under the Postoffice in Chicago.

BORED HOLES IN STEEL VAULT

THROUGH OPENING THEY CARRIED AWAY THEIR BOOTY.

The Men Are Believed to Have Been Aiming at Another Vault in Which Was $35,000 and Many Thousands in Stamps.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—A sensational robbery which netted the perpetrators $74,610 in stamps, was discovered here this morning, when the wholesale stamp department of the postoffice was opened for business.

A rapid investigation developed the fact that the burglars had crawled under the flooring for about 300 feet, bored a hole in the bottom of the vault, secured the stamps and escaped, carrying their booty in a wagon.

The work of forming an entrance to the vault had evidently been going forward with the greatest patience for many days. It is believed, however, that the intention of the thieves had been to enter the cashier's vault, in which there was $35,000 in money and stamps valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The bottom of the vault is of steel, half an inch thick. In this 97 holes were bored until a space 18 inches square—just enough to allow the entrance of a man's body—had been so weakened that it was possible to take out the whole plate with little difficulty. A dry goods box stood over the hole thus made and concealed the work of the robbers while it was in progress. When discovered today the fingermarks of one of the burglars was still discernable on the dust of the box which he had pushed to one side.

So carefully had the job been planned that men working in other parts of the building had not the slightest inkling of the daring robbery being worked almost under their noses.

The robbers drove up to the southeast corner of the postoffice building in a wagon. The tracks could be seen plainly today. The building is a temporary affair, and the men had only to open a little door to admit themselves under the flooring. To reach the vault it was necessary to crawl about 300 feet over odds and ends of boards which littered the way. The route evidently had been carefully studied, for a detective who went under today without knowledge of locations, became lost and was nearly overcome by the foul odors before assistance reached him.

Having secured their plunder, the robbers loaded it into the wagon, drove across a vacant lot and turned into Wabash avenue, in front of the Art building.

Of the $74,610 in stamps taken, $4712 were in "postage due" stamps and $2060 in special delivery stamps. So the convertible stamps amount to $67,838, but of these $4828 were Pan-American stamps of 3 and 10c denominations.

ARC LIGHTS TRANSMIT SOUND

Russian Professor Has Made a Remarkable Discovery by Merest Chance.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 21.—A member of the faculty of Moscow Imperial Technical School recently discovered that a microphone attached to an electric arc lamp by wire could transmit sounds through the medium of another electric arc lamp. Repeated experiments were made, in which the two lamps were separated by a thick wall. The inventor read in a low voice a lecture on his discovery, and his words, spoken into the microphone, were comfortably audible in the next room.

With characteristic carelessness the Russian newspapers failed to state whether the lamps were burning, but it is probable that this is to be assumed.

UPBRAIDED HIS CONGREGATION

On Announcing Call to Covington, Ky., New Jersey Minister Read His Flock a Lecture on Stinginess.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The Rev. Gideon W. Shott, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Scotch Plains, the oldest church of that denomination in New Jersey, has given notice to his congregation of a call to his old parish in Covington, Ky. In making the announcement Mr. Shott took occasion to speak of the indifference the members of the church had displayed in regard to the expenses of the church and the falling off in receipts which had left many accounts unpaid.

This church, though a small one, is the best endowed of any in the state, having benefited by the wills of a number of rich members.

On assuming the pastorate of the Baptist Church three years ago the Rev. Mr. Shott started a vigorous crusade against the five hotels in the town. He finally succeeded, while president of the Law and Order League, in getting the licenses revoked.

ASSISTANT TO THE PASTOR

Miss Ina Lola Sanders Enters Upon Her Work for Wagoner Place Methodist Church.

Miss Ina Sanders, pastor's assistant for the Wagoner Place Methodist Church, and the first graduate deaconess to enter upon this work in the Methodist Church, South, in St. Louis, began work Monday.

Miss Sanders is a graduate of the National Deaconess Training School of Washington, D. C. She has been engaged in city missionary and conference work since her graduation six years ago.

She is paid a salary by the Wagoner Place Church and her term of service is six months.

Her duties are to:
Make pastoral visits.
Visit the sick.
General work among the young people of the church.
Superintendence of the Junior Epworth League work.
Superintendence of the junior missionary society.
Work in the Sunday School.
Assist the pastor in clerical work, letter writing, etc.

"Miss Sanders did not come to assist me in the pulpit, as was erroneously stated," said Rev. T. E. Sharp, pastor of the church.

"She is employed to aid me in general church work, not in preaching. The growth of Wagoner Place Church made the employment of an assistant necessary, and I believe a woman can do much of the work far better than a man. Especially in assisting the junior church members does a woman's tact and sympathy count. Miss Sanders is highly qualified for the work she will do and her employment will be of great benefit, I think. She will be a member of the pastor's household while here."

SERMON FAVORS "CITY BEAUTIFUL"

Dr. Robt. Holland Pictured It Sunday Morning.

ST. LOUIS NEEDS CIVIC PRIDE

SPEAKER SAID PRETTY CITY WOULD INSURE IT.

He Scored House of Delegates for Delaying Important Legislation and Urged Hearers to Support Charter Amendments.

Dr. Robert A. Holland, rector of St. George's Episcopal Church, Pendleton avenue and Olive street, in his sermon Sunday morning, pictured the city beautiful which New St. Louis should be, scored the House of Delegates without mentioning it or any of its members by name, and urged the development of a civic pride that would result in beautifying the city.

His entire sermon was along these lines and at its conclusion he urged the voters in his congregation to support the charter amendments at Tuesday's election.

Dr. Holland's text was from Acts, 22:39: "I am a citizen of no mean city."

"It was St. Paul who said 'I am a citizen of no mean city,'" Dr. Holland began.

"The authorities were about to arrest him in Jerusalem on a charge of inciting a riot. When they approached him, he declared that he was a citizen of Tarsus, 'no mean city.' Whereupon the authorities released him, and he was permitted to address the multitude.

"We should strive to make St. Louis such a city that we may all times be able to say, after the manner of the apostle, 'I am a citizen of no mean city.' We should do more. We should strive to say we are citizens of a beautiful city.

"At present, the largest cities of the world have their distinctive symbols. Boston is known as the city of culture. Chicago is known as the city of great enterprises and great business buildings. New York is known as our most cosmopolitan city and Paris, London and Vienna have their distinctive characteristics.

St. Louis Should Have Distinct Characteristic.

"St. Louis should have a similar distinctiveness. She should be known to the world as the beautiful city. As Boston has in her public library on which she has expended millions of dollars a symbol of culture for which that city is famed, so St. Louis should have in architecture of its public buildings, the beauty for which she ought some day to be renowned.

"We now point with pride to our Union Station. It is the beautiful outward symbol of the greatness of our commerce. Our beautiful residence section we point out to visitors with pride as the symbol of our private comforts.

"But where are the public buildings we can point to with civic pride? Where are the beautiful streets?

"St. Louis must beautify her streets and inject more beauty, more ornateness into her public buildings.

"Her asylums, hospitals, stores and even tenements could be made more beautiful to the eye. And the eye must be appealed to. No matter what beautiful interiors St. Louis homes or buildings may have, they will not be conducive to proper civic spirit unless their exteriors are attractive, unles they can be pointed out to strangers with pride.

"Of course, it is well to make all things useful, but beauty is the highest use.

"Our public school system is a source of pride to us. But how much more proud could we be if the school buildings were architecturally as ornate as they might easily be made instead of being constructed on their present plan.

"St. Louis may be made a beautiful city. Her surroundings are naturally beautiful. But in a large city the streets are all important. Almost the entire population live on the streets. They should be beautified.

St. Louis Should Beautify Streets.

"The city should expend money for beautifying them. It should also have for its officials men who believe in beautifying the city and who have civic pride in their souls. How can we make the city beautiful, as it should be, if our mayor and other zealous and loyal officials are handicapped by other officials who have not civic pride in their hearts

"How can we develop any civic pride if we have saloon keepers and dive owners to make our laws?

"The election of our best citizens to office will be a long step in the direction of establishing civic pride.

"The city must be made beautiful to develop civic pride among the masses.

"They do not study charters and statutes. They view the symbols. If everything about the city were clean and bright and beautiful, it would develop civic pride in them quicker than ordinances could ever do.

"Christians believe that they will find heaven a beautiful city. It has been referred to as New Jerusalem. Old Jerusalem was not a beautiful city. It was not as beautiful a city as St. Louis is today. New St. Louis must be a beautiful city. Those who wish to earn an abode in the beautiful celestial city cannot do better than to begin right now to beautify their own city.

"A beautiful city will reflect advantageously on its citizens, morally and every other way.

"Therefore, I urge you, my brethren, to do what you can to secure the adoption of the charter amendments on Tuesday. I believe their adoption means a new and beautiful St. Louis."

Among the specific improvements that Dr. Holland advocated in his sermon was the remodeling of the river front. He urged the clearing away of the ramshackle structures that now loiter in decay and disuse on the levee and the construction of a driveway along the water's edge.

DR. ROBERT A. HOLLAND, Rector of St. George's Episcopal Chuch, who advocated the City Beautiful in his Sunday sermon.

SWALLOWED EGG OF BIG FLY

Vienna Scientists Puzzled by Death of Young Man Resultant on Their Hatching in His Stomach.

VIENNA, Oct. 21.—Even the most eminent scientists here are interested in the queer death of a young man in whose stomach the eggs of a blue-bottle fly hatched into maggots. The case was correctly diagnosed a short time before death, but the large intestine had already been riddled by the maggots and it was too late to save him. But two or three similar cases are known in medical history.

WENT BACK FOR VENGEANCE

Major La Lande, Shot in Guatemala, Returned There and Evened Up Old Scores.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 21.—Maj. Al La Lande, an American who hails from San Francisco, is reported to be in jail in El Rancho, Guatemala, on the charge of double murder. La Lande achieved publicity in this country a year or two ago when he was brought to New Orleans after having been literally shot to pieces while performing the duties of chief of police of Guatemala City. He was fairly laden with lead and was operated on at one of the leading infirmaries of the city by means of Xrays.

When he got out he went straight back to Guatemala with the avowed intention of settling with his enemies.

La Lande was serving as chief of police of El Rancho. He arrested two natives and was taking them to jail when they began resisting. He shot them both dead, and, despite his position, was arrested and placed behind the bars.

Dan Steele, fireman company 12, right wrist sprained and bady bruised.

Robert Haines, fireman company 12, bruised.

Robert Haines, fireman company 12, bruised.

John Schneider, 50 years old, and Thomas Watkins, 38 years old, were killed in street car accidents Sunday.

Nicholas Henneberg, Charles W. Moffett and August Schweinel were injured, and the latter probably will die.

Schneider and Henneberg were in the same accident. Henneberg was driving a beer wagon on the tracks of the Broadway line and Schneider was on the seat with him.

A car, rounding a curve, crashed into the team and vehicle, throwing both men to the ground. Schneider's head struck a rail, causing instant death.

Henneberg was bruised about the body and cut on the head. His injuries are not serious.

The front platform of the car was wrecked and the wagon damaged $%.

Schneider's body was taken to his home.

Watkins was struck by a car of the St. Louis and St. Charles road. He had been walking along the track and, when he heard the car as it approached, he attempted to step out of its way and tripped on a rail. The wheels passed over his left foot and the car dragged him 100 yards. He was taken to the City Hospital, where he died.

Schweinel was struck by a Broadway car at Stein street. He stepped from a southbound car in front of one going north. It is said he will die.

Moffett was driving in a runabout at Laclede and Leffingwell avenues when a Laclede car struck the vehicle, throwing him to the ground. He was taken to the City Hospital.

MR. BRYAN BOUGHT A HEIFER

The Distinguished Nebraskan Paid $450 for a Short Horn for His Farm.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEWTON, Io., Oct. 21.—William Jennings Bryan, after he made a political speech here, visited the stock farm of Albert Harrah, six miles in the country, and purchased a handsome shorthorn heifer, paying $450 for the animal.

"I am a farmer now," said Mr. Bryan in alluding to his purchase, "and have shipped the animal to my farm in Nebraska.

"I am starting a herd of fine stock, with which I hope to capture a few premiums at future state fairs."

BALLOTS WILL AMEND CHARTER

Former Governor Francis Predicts Certain Success.

THERE IS NO OPPOSITION

"AMENDMENTS WILL WIN BECAUSE THEY SHOULD WIN."

Polls Will Be Open Tomorrow in the City's 333 Precints From 6 O'Clock in the Morning Till 7 in the Evening.

Monday noon former Gov. Francis said: "The Charter Amendments will go through because they should go through and there is no opposition."

TO EMPLOYES.

The Public Welfare Commission appeals to all employers in the City of St. Louis to allow their clerks, salesmen, operatives and employes generally full opportunity to vote on the charter amendments at the election to be held Tuesday, Oct. 22, 1901.

PUBLIC WELFARE COMMISSION,
O. L. WHITELAW, President.
H. L. CHRISTIE, Secretary.

This notice has been posted in many wholesale and retail business establishments by friends of the proposed charter amendments.

Ample opportunity for the voting employes of these establishment to go to the polls will be afforded, many houses having arranged to close at 4 o'clock.

The polls will be open in each of the city's 333 voting precincts from 6 in the morning until 7 in the evening.

"Every good citizen, who is interested in the welfare of the city and its future prosperity, ought to vote for the Charter Amendments," said A. H. Frederick, formerly president of the Board of Assessors.

"The general condition of the streets of the city, the absolute need of new sewers in so many sections, the very unsatisfactory condition of our institutions, the incompiete city hall, and the increasing indebtedness of the city, occasioned by the increase of expenditures on account of the growth of the city, all make it exceedingly necessary that the Charter Amendments as proposed should pass and become part of our laws.

"During my experience as president of the Board of Assessors, I have fully realized and appreciated the necessity of these changes. Again and again, I was importuned to make increases in assessments in order to make it possible to construct streets where they were so much needed. Often, I was able to do that, but more frequently I found it impossible to make the increase sufficiently large so that 35 per cent of the assessed valuation would pay for making the street.

"A few years ago Henry T. Kent and others, who were interested in making King's highway, came to me, after having gone to the Street Department, to help them, by increasing the assessments, to have the street made, but I soon convinced these gentlemen that no matter how anxious they and I might be to have this done, it would be impossible to sufficiently appraise this property so that the 35 per cent limit would permit the street to be made.

"Quite a good deal of acreage property fronts on King's highway and we found it impossible to raise sufficiently the assessment to permit the making of the street."

Your Ballot Should Look Like This When You Hand It to the Election Judges Tomorrow:

Amendment Number One to City Charter: Article III., relating to Legislative Department. Yes. ~~No.~~

Amendment Number Two to City Charter: Article IV., relating to Executive and Administration Department. Yes. ~~No.~~

Amendment Number Three to City Charter: Article V., relating to Revenue and Taxation. Yes. ~~No.~~

Amendment Number Four to City Charter: Article VI., relating to Public Improvements. Yes. ~~No.~~

Amendment Number Five to City Charter: Article VII., relating to Water Works. Yes. ~~No.~~

HOPE FOR MISS STONE

RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT HAS TAKEN STEPS FOR HER RELEASE.

STRONG INFLUENCE IN BULGARIA

Turkey and Bulgaria Have Each Spent More Than the Ransom in Military Operations.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—There has been no report since Saturday at the state department from Turkey or Bulgaria touching Miss Stone's case. The officials, however, are by no means discouraged and are still confident that they will succeed in saving her life, but whether by diplomacy or by force is not clear.

It is gathered that the friendship of the Russian government has much to do with the confidence of the officials ere. That government has responded in the most cordial spirit to the appeal of the state department, which, unable itself from geographical and political reasons to exert pressure upon the government of Bulgaria, has been pleased to avail itself of the powerful influence of Russia on that government.

The Turkish government has for its part responded in the same spirit to the appeal of the United States, and together the two governments, Turkish and Bulgarian, probably have been put to a degree of expense equal to the amount of the ransom demand by Miss Stone's captors in the military operations they have already directed in her interests.

BEAUTY WILL WED THE DUKE

Nina Poore's Engagement Is Announced to the Duke of Hamilton and Brandon.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The announcement of the engagement of the Duke of Hamilton and Brandon to Nina Poore, one of England's beauties, has caused widespread interest. The Duke of Hamilton and Brandon is premier peer of Scotland and hereditary keeper of Holyrood palace. A few years ago he was a poor lieutenant in the navy, but succeeded to the titles and estates in 1895.

DIPLOMAT WHIPPED A BOY

As a Result of Fierce Criticism Austrian Representative Has Left Brazil in a Rage.

RIO JANEIRO, Oct. 21.—The Austrian minister to Brazil will soon start for Europe and will probably not reutrn because Brazilian newspapers have been attacking him.

The cause of the attacks is the whipping the minister is said to have administered to a boy whom he caught stealing flowers from his garden. It is said that the minister chastized the boy too severely.

ALL FAVOR SANTOS-DUMONT

Paris Press and Public Demand That He Receive the Deutsch Balloon Prize.

PARIS, Oct. 21.—The question whether Santos-Dumont technically won the Deutsch prize arouses the keenest interest in sporting circles and is editorially discussed today by the leading Parisian newspapers.

With the exception of the Matin, which supports the contention of Marquis de Dion, that Santos-Dumont did not accomplish the course within the time limit of thirty minutes, all the papers, including Figaro, the Gaulois, Tempes, the Debats and the Siecle, hold that Santos-Dumont won within the time limit prescribed by the conditions.

This is also the opinion of the Baron de Zuylen, the president of the Automobile Club, which is recognized as an unquestionable authority on such matters.

Popular feeling meanwhile is running high in favor of Santos-Dumont, and considerable indignation is expressed against the members of the technical committee, who are accused of quibbling to debar an enthusiastic amateur balloonist, who, although by no means a millionaire, has expended 400,000 francs and risked his life twenty-five times to win the Deutsch prize.

A National Bank Suspends.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The comptroller of the currency has received a telegram announcing the suspension of the Eufaula National Bank at Eufaula, Ala. No details were given.

WILL DINE AGAIN WITH WASHINGTON

President Roosevelt Will Meet Him at Yale.

BOTH GUESTS OF MR. HADLEY

THEY ARE EXPECTED TO BREAK BREAD AT SAME TABLE.

Booker Washington Is Now at New Haven, Stopping With a Man Who Wrote a Confederate History.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 21.—President Roosevelt will not make any change in his policy of meeting on friendly terms colored leaders when he wishes. He will sit on the same platform here on next Wednesday morning with Booker T. Washington.

At the commemorative exercises of the Yale bi-centennial Washington and President Roosevelt will eat together in the home of President Hadley of Yale. Both have been invited to break bread at the table of the Yale president, and only the unexpected absence of either Washington or President Roosevelt will prevent a repetition of the circumsatnces which called forth the infiammatory editorials in southern newspapers last week.

Washington is here as the personal guest of Prof. John Christopher Schwab, within a stone's throw of the Farnam Home, where Roosevelt will be quartered.

Prof. Schwab has spent much of his life in the South, and, generally, is regarded as distinctly southern in his sympathies. He is the author of a history of the Confederacy. He is a foreigner.

McKinley Lunched With Washington.

Washington has entertained more distinguished Northern men and more distinguished Southern men at the Tuskegee institute than any other man in the state, if not in the South. President McKinley and his cabinet, accompanied by many other distinguished gentlemen, were the guests of Washington at Tuskegee two years ago, and they lunched at his table. Washington was the guest of honor at a banquet in Paris three years ago, when Ambassador Porter presided and ex-President Harrison and Archbishop Ireland were among the guests. Washington was received by Queen Victoria and took tea in Buckingham palace the same year.

When he returned to this country Washington received invitations from all parts of the South to deliver addresses and attend receptions given by white people. He was received by the governors of Georgia, Virginia, West Virginia, and Louisiana. He spoke to many mixed audiences in the South where whites and blacks united to do him honor. When the people of Atlanta wanted an appropriation from Congress for their exposition in 1895 they sent a large committee of the most distinguished men in the South to the national capital to plead their cause. Booker T. Washington was one of these distinguished southern men.

Times Washington Has Been Honored.

A friend of Booker T. Washington, discussing the incident which caused so much hostility to President Roosevelt, says:

"President Roosevelt remembers that Booker T. Washington was one of the principal orators at the opening of the Atlanta exposition, and that the Atlanta press then gave more attention to this "nigger" than to any other distinguished visitor. Gov. Bullock almost embraced the "nigger" when he had finished his address, and other southern gentlemen gathered about to congratulate him and thank him for his speech.

"Washington was also invited to help the white people of South Carolina secure help for their exposition at Charleston, and they made him superintendent of the negro exhibit at that exposition, to be given the coming winter. Those Southern gentlemen have encouraged Washington and praised him for the work he was doing for the South. They have recognized in him the greatest agent for upbuilding the South by quieting the racial feeling there. He has taken Northern money into the South, and he has been recognized as an agent for wiping out the old sectional feeling.

"The Southern people had only praise for him when he was arranging to take Vice-President Roosevelt to Tuskegee and Montgomery and Atlanta this fall, and they were eager to co-operate with him in entertaining such a distinguished visitor. They still hope to have President Roosevelt visit the South, and if he goes he will go as the guest of Booker T. Washington."

"IT WILL BE GENERALLY FAIR"

Dr. Hyatt Predicts Auspicious Weather for Charter Amendments Day.

The weather will continue generally fair and warm in St. Louis—at least for the 24 hours commencing Monday morning.

Dr. Hyatt told the Post-Dispatch Monday morning that there was no rain or colder weather in sight.

The temperature Monday was 50 at 7 o'clock in the morning, and 70 at noon.

Throughout the country the weather is generally fair, the only rain being in Texas and New Mexico and up in Oregon.

Prof. Henry J. Cox of Chicago, the government inspector of local weather bureaus, arrived in St. Louis Monday, and Dr. Hyatt will entertain him until Wednesday with explanations of the inimitable atmospheric varieties to be found in the World's Fair city. The official barometers in the Federal building will be given their annual cleaning Monday afternoon under his supervision.

THE WEATHER INDICATIONS.

GENERALLY FAIR—COOLER.

Missouri—Generally fair Monday and Tuesday; slightly cooler in northwest portion Monday night; variable winds.

Illinois and Indiana—Generally fair Monday and Tuesday; southerly winds.

Iowa—Generally fair Monday and Tuesday; no changes in temperature; variable winds, mostly southerly.

South Dakota—Generally fair Monday and Tuesday; southwest winds, becoming variable.

Nebraska—Generally fair Monday and Tuesday; variable winds, mostly westerly.

MRS. ROOSEVELT CAN ECONOMIZE

Thinks a Woman Can Dress on $300 a Year.

SHE HAS NEVER SPENT THAT

HER PRACTICE IS TO BUY THREE GOWNS A YEAR.

Always Has Her Things Remodeled and in This Way Keeps a Wardrobe of Up-to-Date Costumes.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Mrs. Roosevelt was discussing her winter toilet today with a friend and she remarked that any woman with common sense should be well dressed on $300 a year. The mistress of the White House further explained that hitherto she has never spent that much a year, but she supposed a greater outlay would now be necessary.

Mrs. Roosevelt said her plan has been to buy three gowns a year and to get the best of material and to employ the best artists. These gowns are a street dress of cloth, usually tailor made, an evening gown and a gown which can be used on all occasions in the house.

Every season this thrifty housewife has her things remodelled and trimmed with the latest trifles, and by this program she has always a complete wardrobe of up-to-date costumes.

Mrs. Roosevelt believes in buying the very best of everything. Her children wear sailor hats, but she pays $5 for them, and they last for years. The first lady of the land laughingly explained that the sailor hat which Archibald is wearing, adorned the head of Kermit for two summers.

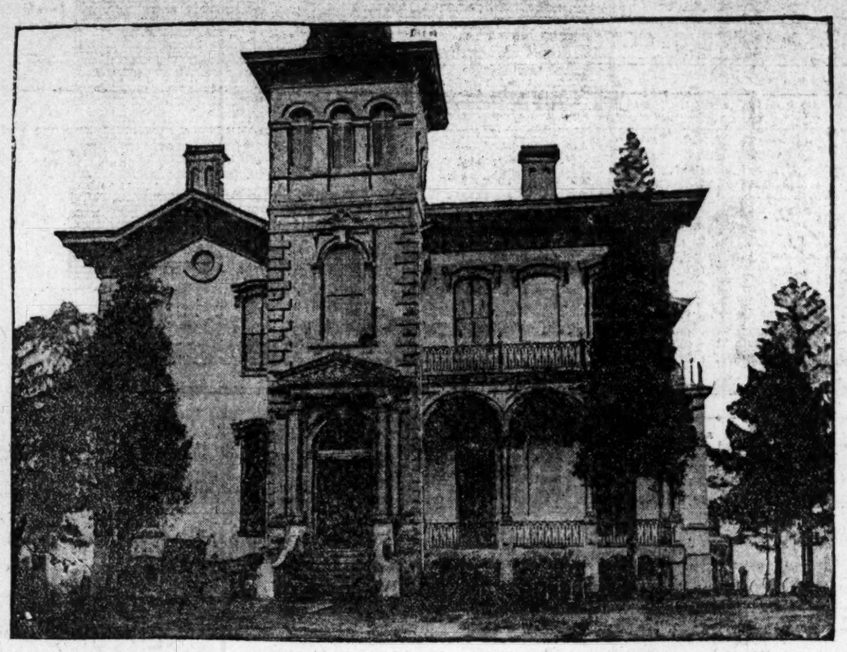

Mrs. Roosevelt's gown for the New Year's reception, her first appearance as mistress of the White House, will be of white satin made on severely plain lines and trimmed with old lace, an heirloom from her mother.

PLEASED WITH NEW AMEER.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The Simla correspondent of the London Times says the envoy from Cabul at that city reports quiet in Afghanistan. The envoy adds that the people are delighted with the new ameer and declares that the accession of Habib Ullah was like a feast after a fast, which graphically describes the situation, the Afghans having apparently accepted Habib Ullah with a sense of relief after Ameer Abdur Rahman's inflexible rule.

PICTURESQUE GLEN ADDIE BECOMES AN ORPHAN ASYLUM

GLEN ADDIE MANSION.

Photographed by the Post-Dispatch.

Forty Little Pilgrims From St. Agnes' Asylum in Belleville Arrived There Last Week.

Glen Addie, the finest and most famous country estate in Southern Illinois, after a quarter of a century of disuse, has been converted into a diocesan orphan asylum of the Catholic Church.

Three days ago there was a pilgrimage of 40 children from the St. Agnes Orphan Asylum in Belleville to their new home in the old Glen Addie mansion, which was dedicated the next day by Bishop Janssen as St. John's Catholic orphanage.

Glen Addie mansion was built by the late Col. J. L. D. Morrison, more lately of St. Louis, in 1863. All of the materials had to be transported long distances by wagon and as it was built in the most substantial manner possible, this was a stupendous undertaking.

The cost of the completed building is said to have been $70,000. The house, on the crest of a knoll overlooking the beautiful Shiloh valley, in the midst of a 20-acre grove of trees, contained 26 rooms, all spacious and lofty.

The house was furnished magnificently, heated by hot air and lighted by gas, which was made on the premises. There was a ballroom 80 feet long, the floor of which was inlaid. It was the scene of many a brilliant gathering, as the house was nearly always filled with guests.

Mr. Morrison was prominent in politics and many men of national repute have been entertained at Glen Addie.

Col. Morrison at last tired of the splendid place and went to Europe and from that time it was neglected. If it had not been built so substantially it would have probably been in ruins by this time.

The late Sheriff James W. Hughes lived there for a number of years. After the death of Col. Morrison the property passed into the hands of the Kinney heirs. Hon. G. A. Koerner of Belleville held the title for a while and the property then passed into the hands of the late Elizabeth Schmisseur. She died a few months ago and the property was purchased for its present use from the heirs shortly afterward. The price is said to have been $13,000.

The house has been repaired and remodeled. The billiard room in the basement has been converted into a dining room for the orphan children. They study their lessons in what was once the grand parlor of the mansion.

Forty acres of the finest land in the fertile Shiloh Valley lies around the mansion. This will be cultivated, the inmates of the home who are large enough being taught farming in that way. The splendid grove will not be disturbed. A large lake is being made near the house.

The property is three miles north of Belleville at the junction of the Lebanon and Shiloh roads.

The orphans who are sheltered there were formerly all cared for at St. Agnes' asylum in Belleville, which is now owned and conducted by the congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral. The orphans of the Cathedral parish will still be cared for at the St. Agnes asylum, but all the rest of the orphans of the diocese will be taken to Glen Addie. The asylum is in charge of sisters and Rev. Anthony Vogt, formerly of Ruma, is the chaplain.

The orphanage has been incorporated. The incorporators are Rt. Rev. Bishop Janssen, Vicar General W. Cluse of Germantown, Rev. Anthony Vogt, Rev. Christian Koenig of East St. Louis, Rev. Anthony Deming of Carlyle, Rev. H. J. Hagen and Rev. J. M. Gouge of Belleville.

THE CROWN PRINCE COMING

Heir to German Throne Will Visit United States Soon to Inspect His New Yacht.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—There is a possibility that Crown Prince Wilhelm of Germany will visit the United States and particularly New Jersey about April and May of next year. Emperor William is now having constructed in a ship yard in New Jersey a new yacht, ordered through the German minister at Washington. He intends ultimately to give the yacht to the crown prince, and on that account is desirous of having the son present when the trial trip is made. He also wants the prince to study American methods in ship building. The yacht will be ready in April. The crown prince, if he comes, will be accompanied by several naval officers.

SAVING THE TREES

RED LINES MARK MANY ON THE FAIR SITE.

WILL BE TRANSPLANTED

Pioneer Log Cabins Will Be Reproduced by Many of Those Which Are to Be Cut Down.

Many thousands of visitors to the World's Fair site in Forest Park Sunday speculated upon the meaning of the black and red lines about the trees.

The lines indicate to the woodmen what must be done. If a tree has a black line, they must cut it down. If it has a red line, they must spare it.

Many noted the fact that nearly all the trees with red lines are maples. All of them will be transplanted to adorn the boulevards and streets of the exposition.

Many of the trees so marked are 10 and 11 inches in diameter. The architectural commission expects to transplant these with nearly as much success as usually attends the transplanting of saplings.

Isaac S. Taylor, director of works, says he expects to save 90 per cent of the larger trees.

The maples have been selected as the World's Fair shade trees because they are the prettiest and most picturesque of the forest that is being destroyed to make room for the beautiful buildings of the exposition.

The World's Fair authorities have already decided what disposition shall be made of the timber from the site.

The finest specimens of the larger trees will be used in the construction of log cabins, which will represent the homes of the pioneers of the Louisiana Purchase. Several of these cabins probably will be erected, and the homes of some of the adventurous hunters who first invaded the territory may be reproduced. It is said they will make one of the most picturesque and interesting features of the exposition, and that the impression of the habitations of the pioneers and their furnishings will be accurate.

That portion of the large timber which is unfit for cabin building will be used as piling, which will be needed in the construction of cascades and in the landscape architecture.

Mr. Traylor has arranged to have many souvenirs, such as gavels, tables and chairs, made from the timber taken from the site. What is left after these uses are provided for will be sold for firewood. Mr. Taylor says no attempt will be made to make lumber of it.

BABY SCALDED TO DEATH.

Fell Into Boiling Water While Left Alone for a Moment.

Bernetta Helen Heidolph, the 17-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Heidolph, at 2624 North Nowstead avenue, died Sunday night from burns received the night before.

Deputy Coroner Boogher held an inquest Monday morning and returned a verdict of accident.

Mrs. Heidolph was preparing to bath her baby in the dining room before the fire and had poured a quantity of boiling water into a wooden tub. This water was too hot and Mrs. Heidolph went to the kitchen to get some cold water.

While she was gone the child, playing against the tub, leaned against it and toppled in. The child's screams brought the mother and she was rescued from the tub.

A physician was summoned and he did all he could to relieve the sufferings of the child. The burns proved fatal, and she died late Sunday night.

MR. SMITH PREPARES FOR AN EARLY AND LONG WINTER

THOMAS SMITH IS ON TRIAL MONDAY AT ST. CHARLES, CHARGED WITH STEALING A RED-HOT STOVE.

A man of pith
Was Thomas Smith,
With reputation scarless,
Until, by Jove,
He stole a stove
Red hot, up in St. Char-les.

With bad designs,
On Mrs. Hines
He called, with ne'er a flurry,
And said he'd bought
The stove, and ought
To move it in a hurry.

She thought it strange
That such a change
Should come at such a season,
When supper time
Was in its prime,
Nor could divine a reason.

But Thomas Smith,
That man of pith,
Would not be feazed or thwarted,
And down the street,
With joy complete,
He with the stove cavorted.

This surely means
That wintry scenes
Will freeze the blood lymphatic.
'Tis, I opine,
A better sign
Than aches and pains rheumatic.

A stove red hot
Means this, I wot—
A winter long unduly.
No bone of goose
Brought into use
Could tell the tale more truly.

WHERE WOMEN WORK

OVER 11,000 ARE EMPLOYED IN FACTORIES.

WEDNESDAY CLUB HAS REPORT

Federation of Women's Clubs Will Consider It in Discussion of the Housework Problem.

Women Employed in St. Louis Business Establishments.

Shoe factories	2,382
Dry goods stores	2,138
Laundries	1,056
Printing	835
Tailors' sweat shops	708
Bagging	487
Candy making	486
Bakeries	422
Paper boxmaking	392
Total	11,403

Statistics showing the pursuits followed by women, other than domestic service, will form a part of the report to be made by Mrs. Martha Fischel of 2647 Washington avenue to the Missouri Federation of Women's clubs at its meeting at St. Joseph this week.

Mrs. Fischel is chairman of the committee of the Wednesday Club which has been investigating the condition of women and children employed in factories and stores, and the sanitary state of factories in general.

Her associates have been Mrs. Charles Damon, Mrs. John Allen, Mrs. Robert Moore, Mrs. William Trelease, Mrs. E. C. Runge and Miss Charlotte Rumbold.

The investigations of the Wednesday Club women have extended over two years. During the past year both state and city factory inspectors have taken up the same work in an official manner.

Mrs. Fischel's report will state that conditions have been greatly improved by the work of the factory inspectors. Further legislation will be suggested, however.

"A better method for learning the ages of children employed in factories should be in use," Mrs. Fischel says.

"At present the statement of the child or its parent or employer as to its age is accepted without question. Many cases have occurred in which the inspector was morally certain that the child was less than 14 years old, but, when the age has been given as 14, he has been obliged to accept this as the truth.

"In Massachusetts it is required that a child shall have attended school for a certain time before being employed in any business establishment in the state. The child's age must be shown from school records.

"Another provision of the Massachusetts law gives a power which is not possessed by the factory inspection officials in Missouri. The inspectors have a right to inspect conditions in homes where piece work is done for tailor shops. This affords protection to the public against unwholesome conditions which may otherwise be found in dwellings as well as in factories."

The statistics relating to the employment of women will be used in the discussion of the housework problem.

"Biggest and Best."

The American Newspaper Directory, Geo. P. Rowell & Co., New York, issued a list of papers, one from each state, selected by them, upon investigation, as the largest circulated paper in the state. The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, as everybody knows, has the post of honor for the State of Missouri in this list. George P. Rowell & Co. might have truthfully added, the largest in any state between the Mississippi river and Pacific Ocean.

FOUND HIS MOTHER

REUNION AFTER THIRTY-SIX YEARS OF SEPARATION.

SHE BORE ANOTHER NAME

Charles Albert Martin of Paris, Ill., Sought Incessantly Until He Located His Parent.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, Ill., Oct. 21.—After a separation of 36 years, Charles Albert Martin of Paris has been reunited to his mother, Mrs. John McKinney, who resides at Spring Hill, Ind.

Martin's real name is Charles Albert and the discovery of his relative, it is claimed, will make him heir to property of considerable value.

The story of Martin's separation from his kinsfolks when a babe, the long years of ignorance of their existence and subsequent tireless search to find his mother when he learned that she was still living, is interesting.

Martin was born at Hume, Ill., when he was but 9 months' old, his parents separated. The father refused to care for the child. The mother was too poor to do so, and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Martin of Paris adopted the babe and reared him as their own son. Not until he was 29 years old did they tell him the truth of his parentage. He had learned the trade of wagonmaker, and built up a lucrative business of his own.

Upon learning that Mr. and Mrs. Martin were not his parents their foster son, who still bears their name, began an earnest quest for his true parents. For some time he was unable to find any clew, as his mother had married again, unknown to any of her former associates in Hume, and removed to Harmony, Ind., three miles east of Brazil. Her second husband was John McKinney.

Finally he learned of the existence of an aunt, Mrs. Gannon, and she made him aware of his mother's subsequent marriage and name. He learned that she had been living at Harmony, Ind., but recently removed to Spring Hill, Ind. A joyful reunion followed. Martin has failed to locate his father.

FEARED A KIDNAPER

POLICE GUARD GEORGE GOULD'S TRAIN AT SALT LAKE.

MYSTERIOUS VEILED WOMAN

She Hung Around Gould Children Until the Maid Became Frightened.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SALT LAKE, Utah, Oct. 21.—The presence of a mysterious woman in black, heavily veiled, who hung about the special train of George J. Gould, while Mr. Gould and his wife were at the theater, led to the report that an attempt was being made to kidnap the Gould children.

The little ones had been left in the special sleeper in charge of a maid. The mysterious woman had been seen in the early evening walking past the train as it lay on a siding not far from the main depot, but nothing was thought of it then. When the maid saw the woman again she became alarmed and sent word to Mr. Gould.

The latter at once left the theater, returned to the train and sent his secretary to ask a police guard of the train. One result of this is that all entrances to the train are under guard today.

The police have kept a sharp lookout for the woman, but she disappeared soon.

HE SEEKS FELLOWSHIP

PROF. PRITCHETT WANTS STUDENTS TO FOLLOW GERMAN PLAN.

STEINS, PIPES AND EQUALITY

These Are His Recommendations, as a Substitute for Dry Tomes and Dress Suits, a La Boston.

"For its always fair weather
When good fellows get together
With a stein on the table
And a good song ringing clear."
—Chorus of "The Stein Song."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—Henry S. Pritchett, president of the Institute of Technology at the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Club at the Hotel Brunswick, gave 150 schoolmasters of Massachusetts a lesson in good-fellowship.

President Pritchett would brush away the cobwebs of formality, which he said, characterizes the student gatherings now, where every lad wore a dress suit and the speakers poured out ponderous tomes of advice.

He yearned, he said, for his old student days in the German University where "'Twas always good weather when the young fellows got together, with a stein on the table and a good song ringing clear."

President Pritchett said he had tried to inaugurate this system in Boston, and will try again with the Harvard Technology boys this winter.

He then went on to speak of fellowship of students and said that the "'Verein' of German studies should be established in Boston.

"In the 'Verein' the German students of all classes gather, the richest and the poorest; each man pays what he can afford to pay, settles his own score, and is in every way independent of every other man in the matter of expense. They gather in a dingy room, clouded with smoke, and there is plentiful admixture of excellent beer. There are no dress suits; the boys wear every-day clothes; the professor drops in and the boys call upon him for a speech."

CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

ELECTRICITY BUILDING FOR THE ST. LOUIS WORLD'S FAIR.

Following is the exposition company's description of the Electricity building:

The Electricity building is the work of Walker & Kimball of Boston and Omaha, who are chief architects of the Omaha Exposition. The structure is located on the main central avenue and is one of the leading elements of the main exposition picture. It will have a frontage toward the north of 650 feet and toward the east of 525 feet, facing the main lagoon.

The design is a bold columnated treatment of the Corinthian order. The columns are carried well down toward the ground, to give height to the facades.

The facades are well accentuated by elevated pediments and tower effects over the four main entrances and at the corners. Over the accentuated places, as well as the twin columns, which form a pleasing variation of the treatment of the facades, opportunity for ample sculptural decoration is supplied.

The fenestration is bold and appropriate, giving ample light and substantial wall treatment. On two sides of the building are loggias, which add pleasing effects of light and shadow. There are numerous openings on the facades, such as exhibitors always seek in selecting their exhibit space. The plan of the building is simple and well-treated, showing an effort to supply as much exhibit space as is possible with the 350,000 square feet of floor space. The exhibit space is compact and asymmetrical. An extensive balcony sweeps around four sides of the building, supplying 100,000 square feet of additional exhibit space.

BRADFORD BOARD BILL IS IN COURT

Southern Hotel Sues Late Doctor's Estate.

HE WAS THERE AT HIS DEATH

EXECUTORS CONTEND DEMAND WAS MADE TOO LATE.

Will in Which Testator Gave a Large Sum to an Orphans' Home Is in Supreme Court on Contest.

Judge Fisher of the St. Louis Circuit Court heard evidence Monday in the case of the Southern Hotel Co. against the estate of the late Dr. Charles H. Bradford for $238.15, alleged to be the amount of the bill contracted at the hotel during Dr. Bradford's last illness.

The witnesses on the stand during the morning were Henry C. Lewis, manager of the hotel, and Elmer S. Collins, cashier.

Dr. Bradford died at the Southern Hotel April 21, 1898. He was wealthy, and left a will which is still being contested in the Supreme Court of the state.

Mr. Lewis testified Monday morning that Dr. Bradford was ill at the hotel for several months, and that his remains were there for two days after his death.

The funeral, he said, took place from the hotel.

During the illness, according to the testimony, Dr. Bradford had with him his nephew, C. B. Chalmers, who acted as his secretary; Mrs. E. J. Chalmers, his sister; A. Bradford, his brother; Wyatt Ryan, his valet, and a trained nurse.

The bills of all these, said Mr. Lewis, were charged to Dr. Bradford by the latter's orders.

He said the relatives stayed at the hotel several days after the death of Dr. Bradford.

C. C. Nichols, attorney for the executors of the Bradford estate, contended that the claim of the hotel should not be allowed because it was not presented promptly after the estate was administered.

He quoted the statute which requires all claims to be prescented to the probate court within two years after administration.

The notice to creditors of the Bradford estate, he declared, was published June 22, 1898. The Southern Hotel claim was not presented until almost the last day of the two years allowed by law had expired.

He charged that this was done to keep the estate open and in court.

Thomas B. Harvey, attorney for the hotel, contended that Mr. Lewis, the manager, had not presented his claim in court because he was given to understand that Dr. Bradford's hotel bill would be paid as soon as the contest over the will was settled.

Dr. Bradford was well known in St. Louis and throughout the South. In the will, which was contested, he left $300,000 to the Methodist Orphans' Home on Maryland avenue.

A man leaving St. Louis at 8:50 p. m. today will reach Joplin at 7:55 tomorrow morning, provided his ticket reads via the Frisco system. Or he can leave St. Louis at 10 p. m. and arrive at Joplin at 10:05 a. m. next day, via same route.

OFFICER WHO WAS CLOSE TO SCHLEY

The Commodore's Secretary Before the Court of Inquiry.

TELLS STORY OF THE BATTLE

PRESS CORRESPONDENT GRAHAM AN IMPORTANT WITNESS.

Served on the Brooklyn and Observed All That Schley Did in the Famous Campaign and Sea Fight.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—After two days' rest the Schley court of inquiry resumed its sessions at 11 o'clock today.

After the witnesses of last week had been recalled for the purpose of correcting their testimony, Lieut. R. W. Wells, Jr., secretary to Commodore Schley during the Cuban campaign, resumed the testimony which he had begun on Friday.

After a few preliminaries he began his narration of the battle of July 3 and was then questioned at some length oy Mr. Rayner before he was turned over to Capt. Lemly and Mr. Hanna for cross-examination.

Other witnesses called for the day were Mr. Edward Graham, the Associated Press correspondent, who was with Commodore Schley on the Brooklyn from the beginning of the campaign at Hampton Roads until its close; Lieut. Edward Simpson, who served on the Brooklyn, and Mr. Dennis J. Cronin.

Among the former witnesses recalled was Capt. Francis A. Cook, who returned to the stand for the purpose of making an explanation of his former testimony regarding the boilers of the Oregon.

Why the Oregon Made Speed.

Capt. Cook, who commanded the Brooklyn during the Spanish war, was the first new witness of the day. He was recalled at his own request and made the following statement:

"In my testimony I stated that the Oregon on the morning of July 3 was under all boilers, having shifted her boilers from forward to aft. I stated this from hearsay and presumed it to be correct as accounting for her extraordinary speed. I find that she had not shifted boilers that morning but that she had steam on all her boilers at all times while in the Santiago blockade."

Capt. Cook then was excused and former witnesses were called to correct their testimony. While Capt. John L. Hannum was on the stand for the purpose of correcting his testimony the court asked him the following question: "How soon after you went on board the Merrimac was she able to use her own power to make from 5 to 7 knots?"

"She was in condition to make five knots when I went on board. I did not give her seven knots."

In reply to a question from Mr. Rayner the witness said it took from the forenoon watch of the 27th until the evening of the 28th, "working day and night" to make the repairs on the Merrimac. He did not know how long the vessel had been totally disabled. Capt. Hannum desired to make a statement concerning the testimony of another witness to the effect that there was no water in two of the boilers of the Brooklyn. As this statement did not concern his own testimony, the court ruled it out of order.

Lieut. Thomas F. Carter, while correcting his previous testimony, stated that he desired to change that portion of his answer to a question by the court in which he had said that the two after boilers of the Brooklyn had no water in them when the battle began on the morning of July 3. As corrected, he desired the answer to read: "The two after boilers had little or no water in them. Their fires were not laid until the battle calls were sounded."

Ensign W. P. Cronan, while on the stand for the purpose of correcting his testimony, stated that he had measured the distance from the initial position of the Brooklyn to Rio Janquino on July 3 and found it to be 39 knots.

Thinks Texas Was Not Backed.

J. L. Hunley, the chief machinist on the Texas, who last week testified that on July 3 he was at the throttle of the port engine of the Texas, while correcting his testimony, was asked by Judge Advocate Lemley as to what other machinist was stationed in the port engine room on the day of the battle. The witness replied that as soon as general quarters sounded he relieved Machinist Hill. He stated in reply to questions by Capt. Lemley that Claxton, who had testified that he was at the port engine on that day and that the engine was reversed, that Claxton was stationed at the air pumps, back of the engine. Hunley said he kept his hand on the throttle of the engine most of the time and did not think it possible that the signal to stop or back could have been given without his knowledge.

Capt. Lemley asked the witness if he had been on the Texas when that vessel ran aground at Newport. Mr. Rayner objected to this line of examination. Capt. Lemley stated that he desired to show that the witness had misunderstood signals then with disastrous results and it was possible he might have been mistaken on the day of the battle. After a short argument the court decided that the question was not admissible.

Schley Prepared for Close Quarters.

Lieut. B. W. Wells, Jr., who was on the stand when the court adjourned Friday, was then recalled, and testified regarding the battle of July 3. He said he did not remember the ranges at which the Brooklyn fired, but thought 1100 yards was the shortest. He described the turn of the Brooklyn and the chase after the Spanish ships.

When the Viscaya ran ashore the Colon was about 10,000 yards ahead of the Brooklyn, and for a time firing ceased. He said that he had received orders to get a quantity of rapid-fire ammunition. Owing to the character of the coast it was expected that Brooklyn and Colon would come to close quarters. He was ordered to have this ammunition ready to close with the Colon and give her a rapid fire when they got close together. He then described the rest of the chase and the final surrender of the Colon. He said he had not seen the Texas when the Brooklyn made her turn. At one time during the battle, he said, the Brooklyn seemed to be alone, engaging three ships.

Important Dispatches Received by Schley.

When Lieut. Wells finished his description of the battle the question of dispatches was taken up. A number of dispatches were shown to the witness and he was asked as to their receipt by Commodore Schley. One from Secretary Long to the American consul at Kingston, dated Washington, May 28, saying that it must be delivered to Schley at once, and informing him (Schley) that, unless unsafe for the squadron, the department wished him to remain off Santiago, and asking if he could not take possession of Guantanamo as a coaling station; also a dispatch from Secretary Long to Capt. Cotton of the Harvard, dated Washington, May 29, enclosing dispatch to Commodore Schley, telling him to hold on at all hazards, that the New York, Oregon and New Orleans were on the way; also two dispatches from Secretary Long to the dispatch boat Harvard, dated Washington, May 30, one informing him that the commander-in-chief had started to join him and the other telling him that Sagua, 25 miles east of Santiago, had been reported as a good place to land, from which it would be easy to reach the heights in the rear of Santiago, the witness said had been received on May 31.

The cablegram from Secretary Long, dated Washington, May 27, to the cable office at Mole St. Nicholas, Hayti, directing that it be delivered to the next American war vessel to arrive and informing Commodore Schley "that the most absolutely urgent thing now is to know positively whether the Spanish division is in Santiago, etc.," was shown the witness.

Witness said that it had been received by Commodore Schley on May 30. The Colon had been discovered in the harbor of Santiago by Commodore Schley on the morning of the 29th of May.

Mr. Rayner at this point exhibited a chart upon which there were notations regarding the soundings taken in the vicinity of Santiago harbor and the strength of the batteries there, this information being given as of date April 5, 1898.

"Now, give me the date the navy department issued the order that has been referred to in this case about not crippling ships by the shore batteries," asked Mr. Rayner.

"April 5, 1898," was the response.

Mr. Rayner asked the witness if he had any other information in reference to the batteries at Santiago except that given on the map referred to. He said the Commodore had received a memorandum of information from the bureau of naval intelligence embodying about the same facts as contained on the chart.

IS USED TO MARRYING

TWO MARRIAGES AND ONE DIVORCE IN EIGHT MONTHS.

BOTH WEDDINGS AT NIGHT

The Matrimonial Felicities and Infelicities of Hamilton Marmaduke of East St. Louis.

Married, divorced and married a second time within eight months is the matrimonial record of Hamilton Marmaduke of East St. Louis, who has just turned his 21st year.

Both of his marriages were elopements. Both times he was married the event took place at night because at that time it was easiest to evade parental vigilance. The second wedding took place Saturday night, at almost the hour of midnight.

On Feb. 15, Marmaduke, then only 20 years old, was married to Miss Minnie White of Winstanley Park. They obtained a license after night and were married by Justice Driscoll.

It was a spite wedding on the part of Marmaduke. He had been keeping company with Miss Ada Shetterly of 2711 Dayton street, St. Louis. They had a falling out and he transferred his attentions to Miss White and after a very brief courtship they were married. The relatives of Marmaduke say that he only lived with her two days, but in his suit for divorce, which he filed in the East St. Louis City Court in July, he claimed that he had lived with her until July 9. He charged his first wife with unfaithfulness and he was given a divorce on Sept. 2.

As soon as he was free he wrote to Miss Shetterly, making overtures for peace, and their former relations were restored.

Saturday evening Marmaduke came to St. Louis and took Miss Shetterly across the river. As he was working with his father he could not get away earlier without causing questions to be asked. They went to the residence of Justice Hender, thinking he could issue a license. He directed them to the residence of license clerk Caughlin. Mr. Caughlin was attending a lodge meeting. They went to the lodge meeting and got him and he issued the license. They then went back to the house of Justice Hender and woke him up and he performed the ceremony. It was then almost 12 o'clock. The couple then went to the home of Richard Marmaduke, a brother of the groom, at 116 North Ninth street, and told them about the wedding. They will live there for the present.

The parents of Marmaduke live next door, but it is said that they have not yet given their blessing to the couple.

Class Hat Proves a Mascot.

Members of the class of 1902 of the East St. Louis High School have adopted the slouch hat used by the United States soldiers as their class hat.

The hats have "'02" in metal figures fastened in the front, but are otherwise unadorned.

For the first time in the history of the school the class hat will be worn by the girl members of the class. Formerly small caps were worn.

The '02 hat made its first appearance on the football field Saturday, and as the game was a victory for East St. Louis, the hat is considered a mascot.

COURT OF APPEALS

CONVICTION OF WIFE ABANDONMENT BARS SECOND ACTION.

A WAY TO GET RID OF WIVES

Unless a Man Again Lives With Her and Again Deserts Her, He Goes Acquit.

A man cannot be convicted a second time for wife-abandonment, unless it is proven that after the first conviction he lived with his wife again and again abandoned her.

Such is the gist of an opinion handed down by Judge Goode of the St. Louis court of appeals Monday morning.

Not even his refusal to live with her or furnish her means to live on, says the opinion, constitutes a second crime for which he can be punished.

Accordingly the court ordered the release of Christ Miller, charged with abandoning his wife, Sept. 17, 1900.

The evidence in the case before the appellate court showed that he had served 30 days in the workhouse in January, 1900, for the same offense.

It also showed that he had never lived with his wife again after getting out of the workhouse and that he had refused to support her or their children.

In its opinion the appellate court reversed the decision of the court of criminal correction, which had sentenced Miller to the workhouse on the second complaint of abandonment.

Decisions were rendered by the court of appeals in the following other cases:

Daniel M. Houser against William C. Richardson, administrator of the estate of Joseph B. McCullough, St. Louis, affirmed.

Michael Tansey against the Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf railway, St. Louis, affirmed.

Elizabeth Schaaf, administrator of the estate of John G. Schaaf, against Oscar R. Fries and others, St. Louis, affirmed.

Daniel M. Houser against William C. Richardson, administrator of the estate of Joseph B. McCullagh, St. Louis, affirmed.

Ozalas Paquin against the St. Louis and Suburban railway, St. Louis, reversed and remanded nisi.

Joseph Wheless against the City of St. Louis, affirmed.

State of Missouri at the relation of Robert McNamara against Henry L. Wilson and others, writ of certiorari denied.

Hirsman Brockschmidt against Robert Franklin, Anna M. Weber and the St. Louis Brewing association, affirmed for failure.

Mary T. Clark against Pleasant Porter, St. Louis, affirmed.

Clora B. Taylor against Charles H. Bobb, St. Louis, appeal dismissed.

A man leaving St. Louis at 8:50 p. m. today will reach Joplin at 7:55 tomorrow morning, provided his ticket reads via the Frisco system. Or he can leave St. Louis at 10 p. m. and arrive at Joplin at 10:05 a. m. next day, via same route.

YALE WELCOMES HER CHILDREN

From Many Lands Her Sons Return.

THE BICENTENNIAL BEGINS

DELEGATES ATTEND FROM 30 FOREIGN SCHOOLS.

Men Distinguished in Many Callings Take Part in the Program Prepared for the Initial Day.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 21.—Yale University extended formal welcome today to her returning sons and to the hundreds of distinguished guests from other institutions of learning in this country and across the seas who are here to attend the celebration of her bicentennial. The welcome was voiced officially in Battell chapel this afternoon by President Arthur Twining Hadley of the university, and responses to the greeting were given in behalf of the city, state and nation, and of the universities of Great Britain and continental Europe.

Delegates from 30 foreign universities and societies and from 125 American institutions were represented in the audience, which filled every part of the Graystone chapel. Nearly all the delegates were gowned in the academic costume distinctive of their degree or of their university. Scarlet-trimmed gowns and hoods of doctors of divinity were mingled with the purple of the learned representatives of the law, the blue of the doctors of philosophy, the green of the medical departments, the white of the masters of arts and letters, the orange of science and the brown of fine arts. Everywhere was a variety of color, which, combined with the universal blue of the Yale decorations, gave a picturesque air of festivity to the dignified ceremonial.

Aside from the exercises of welcome, the day's program included addresses descriptive of the advance of the past two centuries in various departments of learning. The first of these addresses was by Thomas Thacher, M. A., of the New York bar, who discussed "Yale in Its Relation to Law."

Mr. Thacher spoke in Battell Chapel at 10:30, after he had been presented formally to the delegates by the Hon. Simeon E. Baldwin, LL. D., associate justice of the Connecticut Supreme Court and professor of constitutional law at Yale. The hymn composed by the Rev. Dr. Leonard Bacon, a former fellow of Yale, and entitled, "On, God, Beneath Thy Guiding Hand," was rendered with fine effect by a large chorus.

THE CONSUMPTION ORDINANCE.

Commissioner Starkloff Invites Physicians to a Hearing on It.

A hearing on the consumption ordinance, to which the physicians of the city will be invited, has been requested by Health Commissioner Starkloff from the sanitary committee of the City Council, which now has the bill in its hands.

The bill declares consumption a contagious and communicable disease, and requires that the health department be notified of all cases, and that houses where consumptives have died be disinfected.

Some medical men have told members of the committee that they would favor the bill with certain amendments, and the hearing will probably be held, giving all physicians an opportunity to express their views on the matter.

BIGGEST WEST OF THE MISSISSIPPI.

A MODEL AMERICAN CITY.

The Architectural Review of Boston enters heartily into the proposal of a model municipal city at the St. Louis World's Fair.

After commending the action of the American League for Civic Improvement at Buffalo and making some general suggestions the Review says:

"Alien ideas must not be thrust too much forward, for the scheme must be made first of all an epitome of American progress. Enough advanced ideas have been brought out in the United States to make a model city far ahead of any of the orderly communities of Europe. If only the right man is given an opportunity to assemble and harmonize them, American ingenuity may again triumph in a new field, and a temporary object lesson at St. Louis will ultimately lead to permanent improvements and social betterment in many communities throughout the land."

An exhibit on these lines will justify the Review's expectations. It should be kept in mind that the model city is first of all to benefit American cities. It ought therefore to illustrate American ideas and take account especially of American conditions of climate, race, society and economic character. Foreign ideas, however excellent, will be unserviceable save in so far as they may be assimilated and so Americanized.

We are fond of saying that we have, as a nation, left our nonage behind and attained maturity of thought and character. If the pretension is to be made good we must prove that when we imitate, it is through no poverty of mind, but only that we appropriate the best wherever found and make it really our own by moulding it into American needs. In other words, alien excellences must be transfigured by informing them with the vital spirit of Americanism.

All registered voters who have not changed their places of residence since the last election can vote in the charter amendments election tomorrow. Only those who have changed residences without registering again will be debarred from voting.

A WARNING TO HUSBANDS.

An advocate of women's rights asserts that women should have equal access to the family purse with their husbands.

What is the family purse?

If it includes the capital in his business, is she to have a voice in its management? Probably few women would like to be troubled with such responsibilities and anxieties.

But should she not have a voice in the family expenditures—the expenses of table, children's clothes, education and travel? Even further, should she not be the one to spend such fund without the necessity of consulting the husband?

If woman is to be kept within her proper sphere she ought to be allowed to fill it. If a womanly woman is one who stays at home and "tends to her knitting"—keeping house and caring for the babies, why not let her expand, at least to the limits of that office.

Some women, even among the well-to-do, never have enough money to go on a shopping expedition. They must have it "charged" or ask for a quarter before he gets away in the morning.

The smaller the income the more clearly defined should be the wife's rights in it, the more exactly should her share be fixed, and the more freely should she be permitted to exercise her own judgment. If her judgment isn't good that is the fault of the husband; if he had used better judgment in choosing a wife the money would have been spent as wisely as if he had spent it himself.

Men ought to remember this. By humoring women and by timely concessions to their reasonable demands they may be kept at home in their proper place. Otherwise they may get obstreperous and ask for more than belongs to them. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

The five members of the Council who want to avoid, if possible, the acceptance of the outrageous bid for reducing the garbage are working on the line of public service. The contract should not be made if it is possible to avoid it. Every available means to defeat the grab should be exhausted. The city officials should act in this matter as a business man would act if confronted by a similar attempt to hold him up. No effort should be spared to protect the city treasury from spoliation.

THE STRENUOUS LIFE AND EDUCATION.

A writer in a current publication commenting on the Roosevelt ian theory and practice of the strenuous life observes:

"It is easy to say that a man can get along with less effort and that he can pass his years with satisfaction. So he can. But merely getting along, and seeing the hours go with nothing but the fulfillment of ordinary gratifications is not life in its high and true sense. We see the fact illustrated every day—we have it shown in a superb degree in the career of our new President."

This is well said, but the strenuous life, which is no new thing, is undergoing a change of character.

When the colonists came to the new world the task to which they first addressed themselves was the conquest of nature. Nothing else could be thought of before this had been partially, at least, accomplished. Brain and brawn co-operated on equal terms, the coarser mental faculties being in especial request.

Life is just as strenuous today in another form. In some respects it is more exacting and difficult. More than ever is required a nervous energy not quickly exhausted. Calculation, exact and far-sighted, is required. No rough estimates will serve. Mistakes are not forgiven and the man who imagines that he can force his way to success by the employment of ill-trained half-trained faculties is pretty sure to fall by the wayside join the troop of underlings.

At the same time brawn is reduced to a secondary place in the ngle. Physical force is not applied directly to the problem, directly through the mind. Red blood and muscle must be ded into mental energy, there to be employed in working a career. Without this fuel to feed the furnace in the brain man reels and sinks. The nerves give way and his lordliest powf mind are unable to respond to the demands of life. Thus brawn, while more than ever necessary to the strenuous man, becomes for the most part merely tributary to a mind, the texture of which must grow tougher while it grows subtler and more delicate.

A sound mind in a sound body—how shall they be cultivated and maintained at the highest point of efficiency? The problem resolves itself, like most other problems, into one of education. Mental and bodily training are now indispensable if one is to live a true life and realize all his latent possibilities.

The members of the party committees and the party ward and precinct workers can make themselves useful Tuesday by working earnestly for the charter amendments. As the issue is nonpartisan and as the party committees have indorsed the amendments, the votes of all parties should be polled for them. The party organizations can demonstrate in this election that their purposes are not wholly selfish, but that they are capable of public service. No service would be more signal and valuable to St. Louis than the carrying of the charter amendments by an overwhelming majority. Bring out the voters and see that their votes are cast for New St. Louis.

TO THE VOTERS OF ST. LOUIS.

You should vote for the charter amendments because:

It is to your own private, personal interest to improve municipal conditions and enhance the reputation of the city in which you live.

The health of yourself and family depends upon clean streets and good sewerage.

Your comfort will be augmented by well made and well kept streets.

Your pride will be gratified by the construction or reconstruction of public buildings adequate to the plainest needs.

Your property will be protected by a just distribution of the expenses of improvement.

Your convenience will be consulted by distributing the payments for street making over a term of years.

This is your business; you are responsible. No matter what may be your profession, business or station in life, as a citizen you are interested equally with all other citizens.

No man worthy the name of citizen will relish the prospect of an untidy, half made, dilapidated city during the World's Fair.

You simply cannot afford to defeat these amendments.

St. Louis as a World's Fair city must measure up to World's Fair standards. Visitors from all quarters of the globe will judge the intelligence, energy, taste and, above all, the commercial importance of St. Louis, not by what they see on the Fair Grounds, but by what greets their eyes on the streets and in the public buildings of the city.

Defeat the amendments and you will be ashamed of your city, and by reflection ashamed of yourself. As is the city, so is the citizen. If the city is shabby there must be something shabby in the character of the citizens. That will be the judgment of the outside world.

Private welfare is involved in public prosperity. You can't get away from that proposition. This is just as true of the clerk in the counting room or the mechanic at his bench as it is of the millionaire in his parlor or the magnate in his private office. We are all engaged in a common enterprise. A beautiful, orderly, attractive city attracts business. Private capacity is measured by the public spirit visible in municipal conditions. Business men from abroad will apply this rule when they are looking for a place to place their business. And business for one is business for all.

A vote for the charter amendments is a vote for yourself.

Show your neighbors how it is to his interest to support the amendment.

During the remaining hours before the polls close get out and work. If you hear of any friend or neighbor who is indifferent, disaffected or hostile, go to him and show him his mistake.

And when you go to the polls take him with you.

Scratch the "No."

Vote the "Yes."

The official plans of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, published in yesterday's Sunday newspapers, are stale news to the readers of the Post-Dispatch, who are familiar with them through the plans and sketches previously published in the Post-Dispatch. The plans which appeared in the Post-Dispatch in advance of all other newspapers were correct. They correspond with those having the official stamp.

The police chiefs of the United States are asking Congress to define anarchism. Webster's definition is "the doctrine or practice of anarchists." "Anarchist" he defines as "one who advocates anarchy or aims at the overthrow of civil government." What better definitions than these do the chiefs expect? Isn't Congress rather short on lexicographers who are superior to Webster?

Would it not profit all street car corporations to make every effort to prevent collisions and fatalities? With 180 damage suits filed against the Transit company for the October term of court, which includes only one-fifth of the cases of the year, it certainly looks as if the most careful possible management is called for in the interest of the company itself.

We must be loyal to the great city of St. Louis as well as loyal to the United States. We cannot be loyal to the city and neglect to vote for the charter amendments, which mean so much for the city's future.

The size of tomorrow's majority for the charter amendments is quite certain to be taken by outsiders as a measure of St. Louis' public spirit. It should be made prodigious.

Even if there were no such vast enterprise as the World's Fair of 1903, it would still be of the utmost importance that the charter amendments be adopted.

Enough single bricks, each in place, will make a big house; enough single citizens, each of the right sort, will make a magnificent New St. Louis.

The greatest western city of the future and the model city of the United States ought to be St. Louis. Let us give her a start tomorrow at the polls.

Mark Twain's anti-Tammany and anti-war-expansion utterances both commend him to patriotic Americans.

In giving a valuable library to the state, Sampson has greatly added to our intellectual strength.

Every "No" on every ballot cast on Tuesday should be well scratched.

To remove the city's heavy cross, give the "No" the double cross.

Save St. Louis. Scratch the "No."

FINEST CHOIR IN THE WORLD.

THE choir at Alexander Nevskoi St. Petersburg, says William E. Curtis, is composed of about thirty of the best voices in all the Russian monasteries. When a fine singer appears among the novitiates he is sent to the monastery of Alexander Nevskoi, where he is trained as carefully as an opera singer, and remains there doing nothing except assisting at the music at mass in the morning and vespers in the afternoon, until he becomes aged, when he is retired on a pension. Some of the voices are of marvelous strength and sweetness, and it is said that every man in the choir can shatter an ordinary goblet glass into fragments by singing into it, so powerful are the vibrations of his tones.

The monks are all vegetarians. They never eat meat. The rules of the Russian church forbid them to shave, because Christ wore a beard, and their hair is worn long like a woman's. This gives them an unnatural appearance, which emphasizes the effect of their singing. Unlike ordinary monks, they are fastidious about their appearance, and put up their hair and whiskers in papers every night so that it is wavy and curly. One of the members of the choir has a chrysanthemum crop of hair like Paderewski's, which is stiff and kinky and stands out straight from his skull as big as a bushel basket.

Gregorian music only is sung in the Russian churches, all harmony, but no melody, and much of it is arranged for five parts—tenor, soprano, alto, basso and double basso. During the services the monks sing the responses and usually an anthem, when the great cathedral is actually flooded with harmony, and most delicious waves of sound follow one another until they are lost in the dome and the farthest corners of the edifice. No organ or orchestra or combination of instruments ever made by human hands can produce such entrancing sounds as issue from the lips of those bearded monks with their long black veils hanging around their shoulders and their sad eyes, which seem to always wear an expression of melancholy.

We used to go every afternoon at 4 o'clock to the vesper service, which lasts about an hour, and to those who love music it is an occasion of daily thanksgiving.—Chicago Record-Herald.

THE RAREST FURS.

The skin now most prized and highest-priced is the silver or black fox, noted for its rich, glossy, black fur and its exterior hairs of a silver white. In 1900 an exceptionally beautiful skin brought nearly $3000—the highest ever paid; but the average value of good skins varies, says Collier's Weekly, from $350 to $100.

The fur next in value is that of the sea otter, for which $1200 was paid in 1900. The fur is soft and fine, and varies in color from dark chestnut to a deep brown, according to the age of the animal. It is now very rare and only one skin was offered by the Hudson's Bay company in March, 1901, and brought only $540, as prices of nearly all furs have been of late exceedingly low. The common otter, of which large quantities are sold every year, only brings, at the highest, $6, and even as low as $2 for a common skin. The skins of the blue fox—the favorite fur of Catherine de Medici—are much in demand, and bring as high as $30 each. Cross, gray, white and red foxes bring from $40 for the first to $5 for a good specimen of the common red.

Mrs. Crimsonbek: I certainly do.

"What makes you think so?"

"Well, here's a paragraph in this paper which says the postal receipts this year will reach $111,000,000. In 1890 they were only $60,000,000."

"What's that got to do with it?"

"A good deal. It shows that there are fewer husbands now who forget to mail their wives' letters."—Yonkers Statesman.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

Young hopes grow into old disappointments.

The world was made for man and man for woman.

The prose of good cooking is the poetry of good living.

The only thing in the world that a woman can scorn and yet love is a man.

We love women not so much because they are women as that they are not men.

A woman doesn't consider herself a good housekeeper unless she discharges the cook three times a day.

When we old chaps don't envy the young ones it is because we don't realize how the young ones laugh at us.

A woman judges what sort of business man her husband is by the way he decides whether she got her new hat at a bargain.

A woman's idea of a sympathetic play is where the poor hero asks the poor heroine's rich father in vain twice in every act for her hand, and each time throws a fit at his refusal.

Women don't know much about the possibilities of brick, stone, steel and wood, but they can take two strings, a piece of ribbon and a bit of rag and put to shame the creative faculty of all mankind.—New York Press.

HER DANGERS
THE MUSCULAR GIRL
AND LIMITATIONS

ONE of the most difficult lessons for persons to learn is that muscle power is not health. The man "in training" is a man out of health. His muscles are absorbing too much of his nerve and blood force. Some of his faculties are being impoverished and drained. His brain and other all-important organs are being starved. To do this temporarily does no harm. To overuse the muscles habitually, says Arabella Kenealy in the London Chronicle, results in certain deterioration of some other power or powers. Health is the balance of faculties, not the preponderance of one.

Yet there exists today a widespread belief, most dangerous in its effects upon physical development, that muscular force is a reliable test of physical health.

This fallacy—injurious to men as well as to women—has done much to foster the notion that women and girls who are able to play golf or tennis all day have improved in health in proportion as they have improved in muscle power. The truth is, as the schoolboys say, one cannot eat one's cake and yet have it. An adult healthy person is a person whose daily produce of nerve force, with slight variations, of course, has a definite limit. His digestive and assimilative functions produce so much nerve force daily. Part of this will be required to keep him in healthy physical condition; to keep his heart pumping his blood through his vessels, conveying nutritive and reparative elements to brain and limb and organ, to actuate and regulate the multiple and marvelous processes of his complex system, the breathing apparatus, the nervous apparatus, the digestive apparatus, the muscular apparatus, and so forth. The remainder will be expended voluntarily, according to circumstances, tastes, or necessities, in breadwinning, in recreation, in intellectual or social pursuits. But the fact remains that he is able to make each day only a definite quantum of force. That therefore, which he expends in one he will not have to expend in another direction.

The reason that the woman and girl of today are able to expend so much force upon walking and cycling, tennis and golf, and other avocations, is because they have withdrawn force from other and more valuable faculties and have put it into their muscles. Yet, after all, muscular is the very lowest of human powers. Muscle is useful as a means to an end; it was never intended for the be-all and end-all of existence. The fact that women are growing taller and muscularly stronger is no test at all of physical improvement. The change arises from a lengthening of the lower limbs. Naturally a woman's legs are shorter in proportion to her height than are a man's. Modern woman's legs are approximating the masculine proportion to height—and this the physiologist knows is achieved by impoverishing the condition and development of important internal organs. Tall, muscular women are by no means, physiologically speaking, the best mothers. Giant-women but rarely reproduce at all.

TREASURE TROVE FROM THE POETS

POEMS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW.

THE DYING CHRISTIAN TO HIS SOUL.

Vital spark of heavenly flame!
Quit, O, quit, this mortal frame!
Trembling, hoping, lingering, flying,
O the pain, the bliss of dying!
Cease, fond nature, cease thy strife,
And let me languish into life.

Hark! they whisper; angels say,
Sister spirit, come away!
What is this absorbs me quite?
Steals my senses, shuts my sight,
Drowns my spirit, draws my breath?
Tell me, my soul, can this be death?

The world recedes; it disappears!
Heaven open on my eyes! my ears
With sounds seraphic ring;
Lend, lend your wings! I mount! I fly!
O Grave! where is thy victory?
O Death! where is thy sting?

—Alexander Pope.

THE BLIND BOY.

O, say what is that thing called Light,
Which I must ne'er enjoy?
What are the blessings of the sight,
O, tell your poor blind boy!

You talk of wonderous things you see,
You say the sun shines bright;
I feel him warm, but how can he,
Or make it day or night?

My day or night myself I make
When'er I sleep or play;
And could I ever keep awake
With me 'twere always day.

With heavy sigh, I often hear
You morn my hapless woe;
But sure with patience I can bear
A loss I ne'er can know.

Then let not what I cannot have
My cheer of mind destroy;
Whilst thus I sing I am a king,
Although a poor blind boy.

—Colley Cibber.

THE BUGLE.

The splendor falls on castle walls
And snowy summits old in story;
The long light shakes across the lakes,
And the wild cataract leaps in glory.
Blow bugle, blow, set the wild echoes flying,
Blow bugle; answer echoes, dying, dying, dying.

O, hark! O, hear! how thin and clear,
And thinner, clearer, farther going!
O, sweet and far, from cliff and scar,
The horns of Elfland faintly blowing!
Blow, let us hear the purple glens replying:
Blow bugle; answer echoes, dying, dying, dying.

O, love, they die in yon rich sky,
They faint on hill or field or river;
Our echoes roll from soul to soul,
And grow forever and forever.
Blow bugle, blow; set the wild echoes flying,
And answer, echoes, dying, dying, dying.

—Alfred Tennyson.

THE LAND O' THE LEAL.

I'm wearing awa', Jean
Like snow when its thaw, Jean,
I'm wearing awa'
To the land o' the leal.
There's nae sorrow there, Jean;
There's neither cauld nor care, Jean,
The day is aye fair
In the land o' the leal!

You were aye leal and true, Jean,
Your task's ended noo, Jean,
And I'll welcome you, Jean,
To the land o' the leal.
Our bonnie bairn's there, Jean,
She was baith guid and fair, Jean,
O, we grudged her right sair
To the land o' the leal.

Then dry that tearfu' e'e, Jean,
My soul langs to be free, Jean,
And angels wait on me
To the land o' the leal!
Now fare ye weel, my ain Jean,
This world's care is vain, Jean,
We'll meet and aye be fain
In the land o' the leal.

—Lady Nairn.

HIGHLAND MARY.

Ye banks and braes and streams around
The castle of Montgomery,
Green be your woods and fair your flowers,
Your waters never drumlie!
There simmer first unfauld her robes,
And there they longest tarry
For there I took the last fareweel
O' my sweet Highland Mary.

How sweetly bloomed the gay green birk,
How rich the hawthorn's blossom,
As underneath their fragrant shade
I clasped her to my bosom;
The golden hours on angel wings
Flew o'er me and my dearie;
For dear to me as light and life
Was my sweet Highland Mary.

Wi' mony a vow and locked embrace
Our parting was fu' tender;
And pledging aft to meet again,
We tore ourselves asunder;
But, O, fell death's untimely frost,
That nipt my flower sae early!
Now green's the clod and cauld's the clay
That wraps my Highland Mary.

O pale, pale now, those rosy lips,
I aft has kissed sae fondly!
And closed for aye the sparkling glance
That dwelt on me so kindly;
And mouldering now in silent dust
The heart that lo'ed me dearly!
But still within my bosom's core
Shall live my Highland Mary.

Join Hands for Progress.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In accordance with your editorial arguments—prompted by the spirit of progress—let me add a word in favor of the charter amendments if my remarks are available for the Post-Dispatch. It is evident that the ratification of the amendments will enable our patriotic citizens, of whom we have our share, to make such permanent public improvements as are necessary for a greater St. Louis with a more prosperous future. This fact appeals to all who desire to improve and develop the industrial and commercial conditions of our city.

Briefly said, connected as we are with the business world, the railways coming here with products from all over the country to supply our wants, and also taking our surplus products or merchandise away for distribution throughout the land—connected with the great progressive west—and our commercial intercourse, in some degree, with every state in the Union, it is our duty to join hands and keep step to the march of civilization. As all agree that we need the improvements mentioned, that our buildings and thoroughfares must be repaired, and all kept clean, and knowing that we cannot have it so unless we ratify the amendments by our votes, let us by our verdict show that we are always ready and willing to promote the general welfare. May this be the judgment of our people.

As we revere the lives and achievements of our fathers, so let us do something showing our devotion to the causes that nurtured us in youth and made the metropolis grow and prosper. Let us do something to prove our loyalty, our patriotic endeavors to develop our municipal heritage.

This done, we shall possess the virtues of citizenship which shall encourage our posterity to advance, and ever guide with careful hand the progress of St. Louis.

For the Colored Orphans.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Enclosed please find $1.50 as our subscription to the Post-Dispatch fund for the Orphan Asylum at Normandy. Am glad to see that at least a few St. Louisans are interested in this charitable cause and sincerely hope that the fund will increase daily for this most worthy cause. I have had occasion to visit this institution personally and know that if some of our charitable people of St. Louis realized their efforts and hardships, they would lend a helping hand to make the Post-Dispatch's fund for this cause profitable. In the hope of being able to give a larger donation shortly, I am. A SUBSCRIBER.

Conduct in Theaters.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

We wish to request that theatergoers should stop conversing in such loud voices, to the annoyance of all-around them. Persons who pay to hear what is being said on the stage are annoyed very much. I think the managers should put a stop to all loud talking in theaters during acts, and should also stop the hissing of the villain in the play. It is bad form and annoys sensitive persons. A THEATERGOER.

Objection to a Name.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Why do you brand the girls working in private family by always calling them servants? I think it is detestible. There is many a girl working for private families that could work at other things as well as sweeping floors, dusting rooms and preparing fine meals. I think it is sickening and perfectly discouraging. Is no one else a servant except girls working in private families? If so, the girls had better do something else. In my opinion anyone working for pay is as much a servant as the girls in private families.

A DAILY READER.

A descriptive title brands no one. Housegirls perform a service. So do we all who are not idlers. In that sense we are all servants. The word servant implies nothing disgraceful. You will find that the leaders of Christianity who wrote the books of the New Testiment applied it to themselves. The Pope of Rome calls himself "the servant of the servants of God." And the President of the United States and all public officials call themselves public servants. The Post-Dispatch uses the word "servant" as little as possible, although "house help" and "housegirl" are awkward and imply no greater respect. One who respects herself cannot be hurt by a mere descriptive name.—Editor Post-Dispatch.

Smoking in Front Part of Car.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Will you please suggest to the transit company, that they fit in a door in front of cars of the Fourth street line, so the passengers may be shielded from the wintry blasts they are now enjoying. Also that smoking in the front compartment be put a stop to and passengers be no longer annoyed, as they have been all Summer, with smoke from stinking "two-fers," pipes and the mephitical cigarettes, blowing through the cars.

Were a man to blow his breath directly into the face of any one of spirit, he would suffer for his temerity, but he can place himself in a car so the fumes of his "two-fer" will blow behind him. This should not be allowed. DECENCY.

St. Louis.

A Sensible View.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In reply to Hamilton Hill and others, will say that this country is free to everybody and not to one set of people, and any person made sick by tobacco smoke can recover actual and punitive damages by law. Smoking is a vice, not a necessity; 60 per cent of the traveling public on street cars over 15 years of age, do not use tobacco, and if it should be left to a vote it would be voted out. I smoke, but not on street cars or in the presence of ladies or in the presence of persons that I think have weak lungs. A SMOKER.

Charter Amendments Election.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have observed your able editorials on the city charter amendments, which will be voted on and no doubt carried, on Oct. 22.

Some 22 odd years ago I was connected with the then so-called Anti-Charter party of St. Louis, which party finally selected an executive committee composed of seven members of the party. I was selected as its chairman, and during the several years following we had, as a committee in charge, some 27 charter amendments to the present charter, which amendments we reported back to mass meetings of the party and which were approved of and the committee authorized to secure at least the adoption of the most important ones.

Since then our Municipal Assembly has, from time to time, submitted amendments to the voters of the city of St. Louis, and among those adopted in recent years to the present charter were such measures which the anti-charter committee recommended years ago, such as the improvement of our streets with granite, the sprinkling of our streets under the new and present system, paid for by special sprinkling tax bills issued on the property fronting on such streets sprinkled.

Our committee at that time also advocated the ownership by the city of nearly all public utilities, such as the gas works, etc., then existing, with a view of lighting our streets and public institutions and also furnishing light to private consumers, etc.

The committee also advocated public baths.

But to recur to the present all-important question of the adoption of the present proposed charter amendments. It will not only be to the interest of every citizen who has the welfare and progress of the future of our city at heart, whether he be a rich property owner or a wage worker, the change of taxation being so well and evenly distributed and the payments for such taxes for actual improvements that may be made, made so easy and the terms of payment of same lengthened out sufficiently, thus the property owner will receive more, perhaps, than treble the value in improvements in good streets and proper and good sewerage which is absolutely necessary; his property will increase in value treble or more, and thus he will be able to rent or dispose of his property at an advance price which will more than compensate him for the small outlay.

An additional incentive should animate every citizen to support and vote for these amendments to place our city in the proper condition for our coming World's Fair in 1903. JOHN EBERLIN.

WANTED THE SUNDAY PAPERS

Fern C. Welch Took Two to Read and Is Now Charged With Robbing the Mails.

Fern C. Welch, a telegraph operator for the Missouri Pacific Railroad at Labadie, Mo., is in the custody of United States Marshal Bohle, and will be given a hearing before United States Commissioner Gray Monday afternoon on a charge of robbing the mails. Welch is alleged to have taken copies of two St. Louis morning papers from the mail pouch unloaded at the Labadie station from the fast mail train about 4 o'clock Sunday morning.

Welch admits the truth of the allegation. He says it has been the custom at the Labadie station for the operator to take a paper or two for himself for his trouble in handling the mail. He says he was informed that he might do so by his predecessor in office when he went to Labadie four months ago, and that he has acted upon the suggestion more than once. He had no idea, he says, that he was committing a crime.

Complaint was made about ten days ago that papers were disappearing at Labadie, and Inspector Peters was sent there on the fast mail train a week ago Saturday night. Welch says he didn't want a paper that night. Last Saturday night Peters again made the trip, and caught Welch in the act of taking a paper from the pouch.

Welch is 21 years of age. He says his home is in Illinois.

NO PEACEFUL PICKETING.

Slight Modification of Judge Kohlsaat's Injunction.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—Judge Kohlsaat of the United States Circuit Court today modified his injunction order against the members of the International Association of Machinists in the Allis-Chalmers case so that peaceful picketing or influencing workmen by moral suasion is permitted. The court issued the formal order today, and in several counts of the injunction specifically barred acts of violence or threats tending toward intimidation. The counsel for the Machinists' Association put the question whether this form of injunction would allow peaceful picketing, to which the court replied that it was not intended to prevent moral suasion, but that it was impossible to draw the line between peaceful picketing and intimidation, and that each case would have to stand on its own merits. The machinists at once appealed to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

FEATURES FOR CHURCH BAZAR.

Promoters of River Parishes' Benefit Have Procured Many.

One of the features of the bazaar to be given at the Exposition this week will be a tent of palmistry and planet reading presided over by one of the bright women of St. Patrick's parish.

Tableaux will also be presented. One, entitled "Dying Soldier," will be represented by cadets of the parish in full military uniform.

"The Orphan's Prayer" is the title of the second tableau. There will also be romantic views of the "Moore Melodies" and fancy drills by little boys dressed as Celtic knights.

LIPTON TO RETURN TO ENGLAND

The Game Yachtsman Will Take Passage Tuesday.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Sir Thomas Lipton has just returned from Chicago. When asked at the station he said that he had enjoyed his visit to Chicago and had received more invitations of a social nature than he had been able to accept. He said he would return to England either on the Celtic, leaving tomorrow, or on the Teutonic Wednesday. He is being entertained by John D. Crimmons.

WIFE NOR MONEY TEMPT THIS MAN

Kansas City Doctor Refuses an Inheritance of $165,000.

REQUIREMENT IS MARRIAGE

HAVING TRIED THIS ONCE HE WILL NOT AGAIN ESSAY MATRIMONY.

Estate of 4,000,000 Francs Is Tied Up in France Because of His Refusal to Take Unto Himself a Life Companion.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 21.—Because he will not go to France and marry there, Dr. Leon B. Van de Cruyssen of 621 Kansas avenue, Armourdale, is being denied an inheritance of 800,000 francs—equal to about $165,000 in United States currency. The legacy is one-fifth of the Van de Cruyssen estate of about 4,000,000 francs, which is being held in trust in France for five heirs. The estate cannot be divided until all the heirs conform to the requirements of the will governing it, one of which provides that all must marry. Although he knows that he would be made well off by complying with the marrying section of the will, Dr. Van de Cruyssen says he prefers to remain single, and, as a result, the whole estate is tied up.

The division of the Van de Cruyssen estate has hinged upon the action of Dr. Van de Cruyssen regarding the marriage provision of the will for a number of years. It was at first limited to Jan. 1, 1900, by which time he was to have chosen a bride in France, but later, through some process of law, the time was extended. Dr. Van de Cruyssen was married once since he came to America. The wedding took place in Detroit in 1899. The doctor lived with his wife but a short time and later secured a divorce.

Even had he and his wife gotten along together amicably, Dr. Van de Cruyssen could not have secured his legacy unless he had taken her to France and had a marriage ceremony performed in that country. France does not recognize either American or English marriage ceremonies and the second marriage would have been necessary to meet all the provisions of the will. In this connection it will be remembered that Count Boni de Castellane and his American wife, formerly Miss Anna Gould, were remarried upon reaching France on their wedding tour, to conform to the laws of that country.

Not Tempted by the Money.

Dr. Van de Cruyssen says that he would not marry even if the legacy were to be doubled. "I would not care for a wife," he said. "Of course $165,000 is not to be sneezed at, but obtaining it is not a matter of life and death with me. I have enough to live on. If the courts of France decide to give me my money, all right. If they do not, I guess I can live. I never think of the inheritance, as the thoughts make me nervous and cause me much unnecessary worry."

The relatives of the Armourdale doctor have made every effort possible to have him return to France and marry. Letters to him have been of no avail, having brought no replies, as a rule. Those addressed to his lawyers have been equally fruitless. As a last resort a brother-in-law of Dr. Van de Cruyssen wrote Mayor Reed recently, asking that influence be brought to bear upon the doctor to induce him to return to France and comply with the provisions of the will. Dr. Van de Cruyssen was found to be a man capable of handling the question for himself, and nothing was ever done in the matter.

During the latter part of 1899 Dr. Van de Cruyssen went to France to look after his interest in the estate, but when he found that he was required to marry to secure his portion he dropped all negotiations. A conference with the members of his family ended fruitlessly, and he returned to America without his money. While he was in France Dr. Van de Cruyssen says his relatives tried in every conceivable manner to have him marry. He was introduced to young ladies frequently by his sister in the hope that he would fall in love. He met no girl whom he would have cared to marry, however.

Early Dislike to Women.

Dr. Van de Cruyssen is 50 years of age and has practiced medicine over thirty years. He came to the United States in 1881, first, and, with the exception of his visit to France in 1899, has been here continuously since. His reason for leaving his home, which was at that time in Kent, Belgium, was because his parents wanted him to marry a girl of his station whom he disliked. He was in love with another girl, whom his relatives considered below him socially. His family persecuted him so in their efforts to have him marry the girl he did not love that he left home and came to America.

The Van de Cruyssen family is of royal Flemish blood on the female side, having been descended from Baron Bernard, one of the Crusaders who took a prominent part in the crusade of 1099, when Jerusalem was conquered by the Flemish and Godfrey de Bouillon was made king. The name Van de Croyssen means literally "of the crusade."

The estate which is now being held in France was left by Dr. Vana de Cruyssen's father. One-half was willed to the physician's mother, and the remainder was to be divided among the five children. The elder Van de Cruyssen had lived extravagantly, however, and the legacies of the children were not considered sufficient to make them independent. It was therefore decided to turn the whole estate over to an uncle, who was to hold it in trust, paying out enough to the Van de Cruyssen family to live on. A few years ago the estate was turned back to the family, and has been held undivided since awaiting the marriage of Dr. Van de Cruyssen.

When asked whether he would ever change his mind and return to France to comply with the will and secure his money, Dr. Van Cruyssen said "I cannot say. I hardly think I ever shall."

FAITHFUL IN POVERTY.

Members of the East St. Louis Queen's Daughters, of which Mrs. W. J. Broderick is president, have a peculiarly sad case of destitution in their charge.

It consists of a poor old couple who have worked hard for 50 years, the man as a street laborer and the woman as a laundress.

Several years ago some railroad companies gave them a lot in Happy Hollow.

By hard work they built a small house on the lot. Here they lived happily until last spring when the man became sick. The woman had to give up her work to nurse her husband.

For a time they lived upon the money they had saved for a rainy day. When that gave out the woman applied to the county supervisor for aid.

She was given the amount allowed to the poor who are not in the county farm—$3 a month. That would not pay for medicine and the food needed by a sick person.

She then sought relief from the Queen's Daughters. She told them that she was willing to do anything rather than give up her little home and have her husband taken away from her to the poor farm.

Her fidelity won the ladies' hearts, and they gave her as much assistance as was possible.

Last week the man became worse. His wife thinks he is near death, and her only hope is that she may keep him from need.

The president of the society describes the home in Happy Hollow as one of the neatest in East St. Louis and, though the treasury of the organization has many drains, an attempt will be made to keep the old couple from want.

CUBA LEARNS FROM U. S. HOW TO KEEP WELL.

American Health Methods---Enormous Demand for Paine's Celery Compound.

Whatever else has been accomplished in Cuba, the health of the island has been wonderfully improved.

In Havana the change has been magical; streets have been asphalted, sewers built, buildings whitewashed and drug stores supplied with scientific, up-to-date preparations. The demand for Paine's celery compound has grown to enormous proportions.

The following statement from E. J. Molina of the Havana Custom House shows the standing Paine's has already secured among the most progressive, energetic people of Havana:

Havana, Cuba, Feb. 4, 1901.

Wells & Richardson Co.:

Dear Sirs—I take great pleasure in stating that I have used your Paine's celery compound, both while in the United States as well as in this city, and find it to be of wonderfully restorative power, especialy in this enervating climate. Very truly yours,

E. J. MOLINA.

Molina is but one of many prominent Cubans who have publicly advised the use of Paine's celery compound, basing their recommendations on the benefit they themselves have derived from its use.

Not only among business men, lawyers, clergymen and physicians, but among all classes of thoughtful, intelligent people, Paine's celery compound is the one reliable remedy for building up the system when it is run down. It is the greatest nerve and brain invigorator the world has ever known.

If your wife, daughter or sister is pale, languid, headachy and irritable, persuade her to try Paine's celery compound. If your husband, son or brother cannot eat, sleep or work, and drowsy, dyspeptic and despondent, induce him to take Paine's celery compound.

It restores a worn and weak nervous system to healthy vigor.

There can be no substitute for Paine's celery compound.

RYAN STILL WORKS

FORMER PETROLMAN CONTINUES WITH THE DEPARTMENT.

Dennis Ryan, who was dismissed from the police force May 3, 1901, after a trial by the board on the charge of having accepted a bribe, remained off the payrolls of the department one month.

June 3 he was appointed to a place in the mounted district by Dr. William R. Faulkner, superintendent of police stables and general manager of police property, and he has been drawing a salary from the city since.

Dennis Ryan was one of the four Central district policemen who, almost a year ago, was accused of accepting bribes from negro women. All were suspended, and Ryan and another were indicted and tried in the Criminal Court, but they were acquitted.

His trial and dismissal by the board took place later.

The records of the board room show that, at a later meeting, the action was reconsidered. While the charges were still pending against him, he was allowed to resign.

A few days later he was put to work in the mounted district.

"I employed Ryan because I needed a man," said Dr. Faulkner to the Post-Dispatch Monday morning. "Neither the board nor anyone else connected with the department is concerned with his employment.

"I did not know who Ryan was when I employed him. I never knew him while he was on the force. Some of his friends came to me and told me they had a good man who wanted employment in the stables. I told them to send him to me and, if he came up to requirements, I would employ him. I questioned him about his qualifications and he proved to be all right. I hired him, and he has done good work since.

"When I found out that he was formerly a member of the force and had been dismissed, I paid no attention to this because this has no connection with the case."

April 19, 1901, the following resolution was adopted by the board:

Be it hereby resolved, that no former employe of the police department, who has been discharged from the force for cause, or who has resigned under charges, shall be eligible for reinstatement.

MRS. H. C. TOWNSEND IN JURED.

Letters received in St. Louis Monday state that Mrs. H. C. Townsend, wife of the general passenger agent of the Missouri Pacific Railway, was severely injured in a fall from a runaway trolley car in Asheville, N. C., during the convention of general passenger agents just adjourned there.

According to the letters Mrs. Townsend was a guest at a trolley party when the accident occurred. The car was going down a steep grade when the motorman discovered that his brake was broken. The rate at which the car rushed down the hill caused a panic in the party and, in the excitement, Mrs. Townsend jumped from the car platform.

She is not yet able to leave Asheville and Mr. Townsend is there with her.

NERVOUS DEBILITY.

W. A. COOK, M. D.

Men, many of you are now reaping the result of your former folly. Your manhood is failing, and will soon be lost unless you do something for yourself. There is no time to lose. Impotency, like all sexual diseases, is never on the standstill. With it you can make no compromise. Either you must master it or it will master you and fill your whole future with misery and indescribable woe. I have treated so many cases of this kind that I am as familiar with them as you are with daylight. Once cured by me you will never again be bothered with emissions, drains, prematureness, small or weak organs, nervousness, failing memory, loss of ambition or similar symptoms which rob you of your manhood and absolutely unfit you for study, business, pleasure or marriage. My treatment for weak men will correct all these evils and restore you to what nature intended—a hale, healthy, happy man, with physical, mental and sexual powers complete.

I also cure to stay cured VARICOCELE, STRICTURE, CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON, NERVO-SEXUAL DEBILITY and all associate diseases and weakness of men. To these maladies alone I have earnestly devoted 25 of the best years of my life. Physicians having stubborn cases to treat are cordially invited to consult me. I charge nothing for private counsel, and give to a patient a legal contract in writing, backed by abundant capital, to hold for my promise. Is it not worth your while to investigate a cure that has made life anew to multitudes of men?

If you can not call at my office write me your symptoms fully. My home treatment by correspondence is always successful. Address all communications to

RACING, PUGILISM, BASEBALL AND OTHER SPORTING NEWS

WINNERS FOR TODAY

EASY TO TELL WHO WILL TAKE THE FIRST.

KILLIMANDSCHARRO SEEMS IT

Nekanis and Our Lady Are Also Among Those Who Should Lead Coming Under the Wire.

FAIR GROUNDS SELECTIONS.

First Race—Killimandscharro, Mr. Timberlake, Carat.
Second Race—Nakarnis, Omelia, The Caxton.
Third Race—Our Lady, Militant, Lasso.
Fourth Race—Johnson Entry, Tremar, Jake Weber.
Fifth Race—Runnels, Wax Taper, Antolee.
Sixth Race—Uterp, South Breeze, Terra Incognita.

It is an easy task, apparently, to select the winner of the first today. There are only six 2-year-olds engaged in it, but they are so evenly balanced that their chances seem about equal. Killimandscharro has run only once since June 7. That was at the Fair grounds on Oct. 4, where he finished a good third in a field of 14. He was only fifth in the stretch on that occasion and finished strongly, being beaten only a length and a half for the place. He was beaten though by Mr. Timberlake, who runs against him today, but as Mr. Timberlake has performed poorly since the horse with the unpronouncable name must be selected to win. Carat should run third.

Nekarnis ran a sparkling race on Saturday, being beaten only a nose in a desperate drive by such good animals as Bengal and Sam Lazarus. He carries a few pounds more today, but, as he is a 6-year-old, he should not be troubled with this, and as he has frequently demonstrated he can go the route he should win.

Omelia should certainly be in the money.

Our Lady's race on Oct. 15, in which she easily disposed of Militant, Orleans, Ben Frost and others, entitles her to win today. She won easily by three lengths, and although the distance today is half a furlong farther, she can go it because her impost is slightly less than she carried Oct. 15. Our Lady really figures to be the best thing of the day, and with no accidents or mishaps at the post and an even break at the start she ought to win surely.

Considerable controversy has recently been indulged in by horsemen and bookmakers about the relative merits of Claies, Brulare and Tremar. On Oct. 16 Claies won by half a length from Tremar, who beat Brulare a neck. The owner of Brulare said after the race that his mare was given a bad ride by Troxler, but Frank Carr, who owns Claies, offered to match Claies against Brulare, the winner to take both horses. This proposition the Brulare people refused and the matter will come for argument again today. As Brulare carried seven pounds more than her opponents Oct. 16 and is evenly weighted with them today she should be returned winner. Look out for Jake Weber.

One of the most interesting contests of the season will be witnessed in the fifth race today. The distance is a mile and a sixteenth, and among the contenders will be Wax Taper, Peaceful and Runnels. By general consent Runnels is admitted to be the best two-year-old in training around St. Louis and probably in the West. Everybody knows about the unfortunate but gallant Wax Taper, and the fleet Peaceful, how the former defeated the best horses racing on the Metropolitan tracks, and the latter made track records here this summer. Notwithstanding all this Runnels is such an exceptionally good animal that with only 94 pounds up—more than his opponents, however, will carry, weight for age considered—he will probably win. In handicapping this race it should be borne in mind that Huntressa defeated Peaceful on Sept. 15 at a mile and 70 yards and whenever they have met Runnels has beaten Huntressa. At this season of the year two-year-olds are nearly as large as three-year-olds and can pack weight and go a route almost as well as aged horses.

The sixth race has eight good animals engaged in it. Uterpe has won her last four races in all kinds of going and at varying distances and is in fine shape. There appears to be no substantial reason why she should not add another victory to her record this afternoon. South Breeze and Terra Incognito will make her hustle, but with O'Brien up she will take the lead in the stretch and win. Joe Doughty, George Lee and Banquo do not figure to have a chance.

MEMPHIS FALL MEETING.

The Trotting Association Opens Today and Continues During Week.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 21.—The autumn meeting of the Memphis Trotting Association will begin at Billings Park this afternoon and continue throughout the week. The entry lists have been well filled and high-class sport is promised. The feature of today's card will be the attempt of Little Boy, owned by C. K. G. Billings of Chicago to lower his pacing record of 2:02 pitched to a wagon, made recently in New York.

A special train from Lexington, bringing 250 horses, arrived yesterday at the park. Among the arrivals are some of the most noted trotters and pacers in the country.

MISS PYE WON EASILY.

Captured All-Aged Coursing Sake at Pastime Park.

An all-aged and a puppy stake were the features at the Pastime Coursing Park Sunday, Miss Pye winning the first event from Maggie N. Doris captured the stake for the youngsters.

The winner of the all-aged stake is not an aged dog, but disposed of her field very handily. The animal is owned by C. E. Ross of St. Louis.

Doris won all her courses without being pushed.

Charles Robinson made his first appearance as judge and gave satisfaction. Mr. Eagan again did the slipping and was in good form excepting in the start of the course between Doris and Black Burton.

THE HARDEST HIT EVER MADE.

Larry Lajoie Struck the Ball Out of the Cover in a Sunday Game at Memphis.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 21.—Larry Lajoie, who, according to official figures, leads the American League baseball batters by many points on the season's work, hit the ball harder than it was probably ever hit before in a game here yesterday between the All-Nationals and the All-American team.

With three men on bases he hit the ball so hard that the cover flew off, falling on foul ground while the remainder of the ball was driven to the outfield for three bases, three men scoring on the play.

The umpires were puzzled whether to call it a fair ball or not, owing to the fact that part of it went foul and part fair. Lajoie was finally allowed the hit.

The American Leaguers won out in the end by a score of 9 to 4.

Lajoie's record for the season as shown by Ban Johnson's figures place him well in front of any batter in either league in the percentage of hits made. His mark for the season is .442. The records show that he played 121 games, was at bat 543 times, made 220 hits and 145 runs. He made but one sacrifice hit during the season, but stole 27 bases.

Second to Lajoie in batting comes Wiltse of the Philadelphias with .373, while McGraw of Baltimore is third at .352.

MANY HUNTERS SHOT

FIVE DEATHS IN FIRST NINETEEN DAYS OF THE SEASON.

MISTAKEN FOR DEER OR BEAR

Three More Have Been Seriously Wounded Through Carelessness in Spite of Heavy Penalty.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BANGOR, Me., Oct. 21.—The record of shooting accidents in the first 19 days of the Maine hunting season is an appalling one.

Five men are dead and three have been severely wounded as a result of careless manipulation of firearms in the woods. The dead are:

William Bowley, aged 17, of Showhegan, mistaken for a deer while fishing near Moro.

John G. Leonard, aged 16, of Frankfort, shot by the careless discharge of a gun in his companion's hands while hunting.

Henry McPheters, aged 40, of Milford, mistaken for a bear while gathering apples in orchard near lumber camp at Monson.

Frank Ripley, aged 45, of Waite, accidentally shot near Brookton.

John G. Weeks of Boston, mistaken for a deer while hunting near Jefferson.

The wounded are:

Eugene Wilson, Jonesport, mistaken for a bear; Daniel McInch of DeWolfe's Corner, N. B., mistaken for a deer near Calais, and Edward Metcalf of Rockport, mistaken for a deer while hunting near that town.

At the last session of the Legislature a law was passed providing for the punishment of persons who through careless handling of firearms should shoot and kill or injure another. The punishment provided is a fine of $10,000 or ten years' imprisonment. Only one of the shooters in the above-named cases has been arrested under the law, and that is the man who shot Wilson.

FLANAGAN BREAKS RECORD.

Throws the 56-Pound Weight 36 Feet 9 1-2 Inches, Beating His St. Louis Record.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—John Flanagan broke another weight-throwing record Sunday at the games of the Greater New York Irish Athletic Association. In competition he threw the 56-pound weight 35 feet 9½ inches, breaking his own world's record recently made at the Fair Grounds games, St. Louis.

Flanagan now holds every weight record, with the exception of throwing the 56-pound weight for height.

Peter O'Connor, holder of the world's record for the running broad jump, contested in the jumping event, but cleared only 21 feet 5¼ inches. O'Connor's ankle has been bad since his arrival in New York and has prevented any display of the form that won him the world's record mark.

MISS HINDS AS POSTMISTRESS.

She Succeeds Her Father in Charge of the Office at Decatur, Ala.

DECATUR, Ala., Oct. 21.—Miss Floy Hinds has been appointed postmistress at the instance of the bondsmen of her father, Capt. J. B. Hinds. She succeeds her father in the office.

The shortage found by the department inspectors in the accounts of Capt. Hinds was explained to them by the statement that he had the money at his home as a safeguard against burglars. Citizens here are asking that Miss Hinds be retained in the office.

FOOTBALL COMMENT.

Much astonishment is being expressed at the poor showing of the Washington University football team against the University Medicals eleven at Athletic Park Saturday.

On the strength of Washington's good showing against the strong Illinois team one week prior it was supposed to be approximately the equal of the Kansas City aggregation. That the latter was able to score 28 points seemed entirely out of form.

The absence from the game of several good Washington players, owing to a faculty ruling, probably contributed something to the team's defeat, though it is doubtful if it was much behind its strength of a week ago, when Illinois won.

The Kansas City team rolled up a larger score against the local team than the Champaign men did, but the fact does not necessarily signify that the Medical men have anything like the team that represents Illinois.

The latter played on a muddy field and its fast backs could not get under way. As stated in the Post-Dispatch at the time of the contest, on a dry field (such as the Medics had Saturday), the Illinois team would have doubled its score against Washington.

Washington probably lost some of its effectiveness Saturday through disheartenment over the faculty action. It played with no show of dash whatever in the first half.

In the second, Clarke's encouragement put them in a better frame of mind, and they turned to with much better results.

In the second half, one touchdown was the best the visitors could do, after having rolled up 23 points in the first half.

Washington's team is not so very badly off by the loss of the three men named. It seemed during the game that not players, but spirit, appeared to be the principal factor wanting. The Medics had nothing in particular that St. Louis men could not have stopped better than they did.

The Medics have a fair team, but it is no 28 to 0 team over the Washington lads, weak as they appeared Saturday.

Yale and Princeton still continue to display their first form of all the eastern university elevens. The two teams are practically even on the season's work, Yale having scored 197 against 6, while Princeton has rolled up 198 without being scored against. Yale has had harder games, however, than Princeton and still appears the favorite for the championship of the year.

Princeton probably has the fastest team in the field of any in the country. What it can do in the face of the brawn of the Yale team will be watched with interest.

Princeton is not so light as reports would have it appear. It has several big men that will bring its average up. If it can come reasonably close to Yale in weight, Ell will need all its strength to win.

TO EXECUTE MORE BOXERS.

The List of Eighty Includes All but the Real Leaders.

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 21.—Advices from China state that the emperor's brother has now presented a fresh list of mandarins deserving punishment. The edict directs that every person named on the list shall be punished, many being sentenced to death and others to lifeling banishment beyond the frontier of China. This list is a startling one from a Chinese standpoint, but Shanghai papers say it fails, as usual, to include the most illustrious culprits. There are 80 names in the list.

In consequence of the earnest efforts of Sir Ernest Satow, British minister of Pekin, not less than 35 are ordered punished for complicity in the Chuchou massacre of last year. Gov. Liushutang of Pekin has been degraded and banished to his native place. Yung Chuan, provincial judge and treasurer, is degraded and banished to Szeshuan.

Gov. Poa Tsulin of Chuchou is degraded and sent to perpetual banishment in Kashgarlax. Yu, brigadier-general of Chuchou, was sentenced to perpetual banishemt, but evaded sentence by dying.

Chouchihte, commander of local troops at Chuchou, when the massacre occurred, was executed there. Numerous other local officials were degraded. Fourteen of the actual murderers were executed, nine accomplices were banished for life, and others imprisoned.

BASEBALL COMMENT

Another inroad on the roster of National League baseball players was announced Sunday when seven names of Philadelphia National League Club members were officially given out as being on American League contracts for 1902.

Delehanty, Wolverton, Orth and Townsend will play with the Washington team, and Flick, Duggleby and Monte Cross have signed with Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics. Two others, it is said, will go to the American.

Seven at one blow is severe on Nick Young's organization, especially as it comes immediately after five St. Louis men turned their backs on the older league.

President Johnson of the American said Sunday that he already had the signatures of 21 National League players, and expected to have several more by the opening of the season next spring.

The Johnson-Somers organization, if it secures a few more of the country's star players, will be entitled to be called the major league.

The signing of five St. Louis players alone weakened a National League club and strengthened an American team so that the standing of the two appears to be reversed. Milwaukee was nothing until the St. Louis men were added to it. It has not been proven to be a winning club as the new St. Louis team, but it probably will be a capable one.

With two of the first division teams greatly weakened, and Johnson still hunting for vacillating players, the American League should be very little inferior to the National in 1902.

Nick Young announces the following official fielding averages for the season:

DAVE BARRY OF CANADA

(Who will fight Martin Duffy at the West End Coliseum tonight.)

GOSSIP ABOUT PUGILISTS

Dave Barry and Martin Duffy will meet Monday night in a 15-round match at the West End Club. Several followers of the fighting game came from Chicago Sunday to witness the battle.

Barry has been training at the club for several days, and Duffy arrived Saturday night.

Both are said to be in excellent shape for a contest.

Two preliminaries have been arranged to lead up to the feature event—one a 10-round contest between "Kid" Garrie and Joe Unger, and the other the customary battle royal.

The latter event has been a feature at the West End Club's meetings and it is announced that a particularly aggressive brand of fighters has been secured for Monday night.

George Siler will referee the bouts and will officiate in all the future fights arranged by President Haughton. The feature event will start about 9:30 o'clock.

For a real live championship-of-the-world pugilistic match, the Jeffries-Ruhlin affair is making very little stir. A few months ago the fight between the men, then scheduled to take place at Cincinnati, was the most talked of even in the sporting world. But very little is now being said in connection with it.

The usual details of training and workouts are missing and little information is to be obtained as to the actual condition of the men.

So much bickering accompanied the arranging of the conditions of the fight that the public has lost confidence of the sincerity of the fight promoters.

There seems o be no room for doubt now that the money is positively reported to be up and Corbett is said to have been agreed upon as referee; that the affair will take place on Nov. 15, but, from indications, less interest will be manifested in the coming battle than in any affair as important for many years.

TITUS MAY GO TO ENGLAND.

Union Boat Club Encourages His Diamond Skulls Ambition.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—New York oarsmen are keenly interested in the proposition to send Constance S. Titus, a member of the Union Boat Club, to Henley next year to compete for the diamond sculls.

Titus, who originally hailed from New Orleans, gained prominence last year when he won the association single scull race in the regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen, which victory practically makes him champion amateur sculler of America.

E. H. Ten Eyck is really the champion, but he has announced his determination to retire from rowing competition. When he won the championship race last summer, the Union Boat Club honored Titus with a life membership.

A special meeting of the club has been called for Sunday to devise means for raising the funds necessary to send Titus abroad to compete for the diamond sculls.

JEFFERSONS WON FIRST GAME

Defeated Young Men's Institute Eleven in the Initial Contest of the Association Season.

The local association football season was opened Sunday afternoon. Jefferson defeated the Young Men's Institute eleven by a score of 3 goals to 0.

The Jeffersons are largely players from the Cyling Club team of last season, while the Y. M. I. team also has a number of familiar names on its list.

The Jefferson Club was faster than its opponents of Sunday and won through superior condition.

The winners scored two goals in the opening half, shortly after the game had opened. Cunningham, a new man in the ranks of local players, scored the first, and Fizel, shortly after, sent a drive squarely between the posts for the second count.

The Y. M. I. team played football during the remainder of the game, the Jeffersons being able to get the ball past Goal Keeper Juehne but once more.

Line-up:

J. C. —	Position.	Y. M. I.
Tully	Goalkeeper	Juehne
Lynch	Fullback, right	Betts
McDonough	Fullback, left	Reardon
Backoff	Halfback, right	Lydon
Daly	Halfback, center	Burke
Shay	Halfback, left	Gallagher
Riordan	Forward, center	Finnigan
Fizel	Forward, right	Daly
Cunningham	Forward, left	Burns
Comerford	Forward, left	Cravens

Summary: Final score—Jefferson Club 3, Y. M. I. 0. Referee—Lawrence Riley. Side linesmen—Tighe and Breime. Goal linesmen—Griffin and Yore. Goals—Fizel 1, Cunningham 1, Ammans 1.

AUSTRALIANS MAY CHALLENGE.

Watson Expects to Organize Syndicate to Build Fast Yacht.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—R. A. Watson, formerly of Canada, but now of Sydney, N. S. W., at an informal reception given him at the Nonpareil Rowing Club said that the recent races between the Columbia and Shamrock II were the greatest that had ever taken place.

He added that on his return to Australia he would try to form a wealthy syndicate to build a boat and challenge for the cup from Australia.

ALTON SUNDAY GAME.

Willie Sudhoff's Professionals Nearly Put Breitenstein Out of the Box.

Willie Sudhoff went to Alton with his professionals Sunday afternoon and defeated the Alton Blues in a hard-fought game by a score of 6 to 4. Breitenstein was in the box for the Blues, and the professionals knocks put him out of the box in the first inning. They made seven hits in this inning, and pushed four of them over the rubber. The game was supposed to be the last of the season, and was for the entire gate receipts. Sudhoff and Breitenstein had arranged for a good liberal side bet between the two teams, and the game was for blood. The aggregation of players are not satisfied, and will probably go to Alton next Sunday and fight it out again, to decide who is entitled to two games of the three. The honors are now even.

POST-DISPATCH COMPLETE DAILY RECORD OF MARKETS

WHEAT AND CORN FELL

REPORTS OF RAINS IN ARGENTINE BROKE MARKET.

LIQUIDATION IN CORN BRISK

Breaking of the Drouth in Argentine Caused Heavy Selling—Wheat Off 3-8c to 5-8c, and Corn 1-2c to 5-8c.

The firmness at Liverpool and further bad drouth reports from Argentine caused the wheat market to open ⅛@¼c above the close of Saturday. Liverpool opened ⅜d up, but later lost ⅛d. Private cables reported that rain had fallen in Argentine and after the opening the market eased off under liberal selling. Liverpool closed ⅜d off on wheat, due to profit taking started by the reports of rains. Corn closed unchanged. Spot corn was unchanged and spot wheat ¼d off. Berlin and Budapesth recorded a gain of ⅝c and Paris was unchanged on wheat.

There was a stampede to sell when the cables confirmed the reports of general rains in the drouth stricken sections of Argentine.

Chicago bulls turned an immense amount of long wheat on the market and trading here was very heavy.

The world's wheat shipments were liberal, showing an increase of 1,000,000 bu for the week. The corn shipments increased 410,000 bu. The amount of wheat on ocean passage decreased 1,472,000 bu for the week, while corn decreased 760,000 bu. The Chicago wheat stocks increased 149,000 bu last week, while the corn stocks decreased 8000 bu.

The weather was ideal for the movement of grain to market and the northwest receipts were 1031 cars, 105 more than a year ago. St. Louis received 65,832 bu, 83,000 bu less than a year ago. The 224,000 bu less than the same day last year due to the light winter wheat movement.

The visible supply showed an increase of 185,000 bu for the week. The corn supply increased only 85,000 bu.

The corn market was weak and neglected until the break in wheat. Then trading became heavy. Liquidation was resumed in December. Longs sold both options, but trading was heaviest in December. The market gave way and the weakness hurt wheat.

When the market closed wheat was from ⅜@½c to ⅝c under Saturday, corn ½@⅝c and oats unchanged to ¼c lower.

Wheat sold ¼@¼c above Saturday on drouth reports from Argentine. Then came reports that rains were falling in the drouth affected sections and the bulls began selling. The heavy drop at Liverpool from ⅜d above to ⅜d below Saturday started heavy selling by longs.

The export demand for wheat continues good and the clearances today were 564,000 bu in wheat and flour. The wheat receipts are falling off rapidly because farmers in the southwestern states are feeding an immense amount of wheat to stock.

Chicago reported foreign buying orders and brokers were fairly well supplied with orders at the opening. The offerings were light.

December opened ⅛c up, at 72¼c, sold off to 72⅛c, up to 72¼c and down to 72⅛@72¼c.

May opened ⅛c above Saturday, at 75⅝c, sold off to 75¼c and rallied to 75⅜c.

By this time the reports of rains in Argentine had been confirmed and the market weakened under heavy long selling.

Dec. went down with only a few checks to 71⅜@71½c and rallied to 71⅛@71⅝c, which was paid at the close, a loss of ⅜@½c.

May dropped to 74⅜c, which was paid at the close, ⅝c under Saturday.

Receipts of wheat at St. Louis today were 65,832 bu, compared with 149,031 bu a year ago. Of these 1881 sacks and 70 cars were local and 4 cars through, compared with 6147 sacks and 153 cars local and 16 cars through the same date a year ago.

Receipts of wheat at primary points today were 1,276,845 bu, compared with 1,500,000 bu same date last year.

Shipments 381,535 bu, compared with 631,000 bu same date last year.

Receipts of wheat at Minneapolis and Duluth were 1031 cars, compared with 926 cars same date last year.

Dec. wheat sold today at 72¼c, 72⅛c, 72¼c, 71⅞@71¾c, 72⅛c, 72c, 71⅞@72c, 71⅞c, 71⅞@72c, 71⅞c, 71⅞@71⅞c, 71⅞c, 71⅞@71⅞c, 71⅞c, 71⅞@71⅞c, 71⅜c, 71⅞c, 71⅝c, 71⅝@71⅜c, 71⅝c, 71½c, 71⅝@71⅜c and 71⅜c.

May sales: 75⅝c, 75¼c, 75¼@75⅜c, 75⅜c, 75⅜@75⅝c, 75¼c, 75¼@75¼c, 75c, 74⅞c, 74⅞@74⅞c and 74⅜c.

Corn was neglected until the wheat market gave way. Then there was heavy liquidation of December, which spread to the May option.

The primary receipts of corn were 336,800 bu less than a year ago, and the clearances were larger than usual, being 311,278 bu.

The report of the Wisconsin state board of agriculture showed a gain of 4 points in corn since Sept. 1.

The corn market was dull at the opening. The strength in wheat held prices up to Saturday's close. Dec. opened at 57@57⅛c and sold off to 57c. May opened at 59¼@59⅜c and dropped to 59⅛c.

The weakness in wheat started liquidation in corn. Dec. dropped to 56⅛c, which was bid at the close, ½@⅝c under Saturday's close.

May declined to 58⅜c, which was paid at the close, a loss of ½@⅝c.

Receipts of corn at St. Louis today were 44,800 bu, compared with 114,100 bu a year ago. Of these 51 cars were local and 5 cars through, compared with 200 sacks and 102 cars local and 40 cars through the same date a year ago.

Receipts of corn at primary points today were 392,499 bu, as compared with 729,000 bu same date last year.

Shipments, 318,946 bu, compared with 956,000 bu same date last year.

Dec. corn sold today at 57@57⅛c, 57c, 57@57⅛c, 57c, 57@57⅛c, 57c, 57@57⅛c, 57c, 56⅞c, 56¾@56⅞c, 56¾c, 56⅞c, 56⅝c, 56¾@56⅞c, 56⅞c, 56⅝c, 56½@56⅝c, 56⅝c, 56⅛@56⅝c, 56½c, 56⅜@56½c and 56⅛c.

May sales: 59¼@59⅜c, 59⅛c, 59c, 58⅞c, 59c, 58⅞c, 58⅜c, 58⅝c and 58⅜c.

A good cash demand for oats held the market firm in spite of light speculation. May opened unchanged at 38⅞c.

The visible supply increased 275,000 bu last week.

May closed unchanged from Saturday at 38⅞c. Dec. closed with a loss of ¼c at 36⅜c asked.

Receipts of oats at St. Louis today were 40,800 bu, compared with 79,200 bu a year ago. Of these 30 cars were local and 4 cars through, compared with 65 cars local and 1 car through the same date a year ago.

Receipts of oats at primary points today were 456,208 bu, as compared with 525,000 bu same date last year.

Shipments, 440,331 bu, compared with 350,000 bu same date last year.

General Market Notes.

Total clearances today: Wheat and flour, 564,000 bu; corn, 311,278; oats, 7081 bu.

Argentine cable to A. C. Petri: "A slight rain fell last night, but it is of no use now, as damage is already very serious indeed. In Central Andino, Rosario, Cordova and French railways all cannot be much worse. Santa Fe southward crop is in good condition, with a large increase in area over last year." This cable shows a serious situation in provinces of Santa Fe and Cordova, which produces the bulk of the Argentine wheat crop. Last year the only good wheat in these provinces was in the Andino district, now reported the worst. The crop in Buenos Ayres is much later and is yet in danger of frost, which is a great drawback to wheat growing in that section. On this showing the crop prospects are now poorer than last year for Argentine.

London: Wheat, off coast, nothing doing; on passage, firmer tendency. Corn—Off coast, nothing doing; on passage, rather firmer.

To Oswald Graves, from Chicago: When the demand overtakes the supply, which I think it will some time before we get another crop, you can bull this corn. Bulls are gradually growing tired and running away from the cash.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—Wheat had a steady opening on the Board of Trade today with Dec. ⅛@¼c to ⅜c higher at 71⅛c to 71¼@71⅜c on improved cables. On the few deals made early prices fluctuated rapidly. Dec. sagged with a small decline in cables to 70¾@70⅞c, but on reports of a considerable increase in world's shipments, it sold back to 71⅛c. The local demand was only moderate and commission houses made few sales. Local receipts were 156 cars, none of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 1031, making a total for the three points of 1187 cars, against 1000 last week and 1210 a year ago. The amount on passage showed a decrease of 1,472,000 bu. World's shipments were 8,732,000 bu, against 7,708,000 bu last week and 6,981,000 bu a year ago.

A sharp decline in cables and a general liquidation by longs brought Dec. wheat to a weak close, ⅜@½c lower at 70⅝c.

Dec. corn opened dull, unchanged to a shade lower at 56¾@56⅛@56¼c. Commission houses were doing practically nothing, and almost the only dealing was the changing of Dec. for May. On small coverings for shorts Dec. sold to 56⅜c, but sagged away again to 56c at the end of the first hour. Receipts were 254 cars.

Dec. corn followed wheat in the decline and closed weak, ⅝@⅞c depressed at 55⅜@55½c.

Dec. oats were profoundly dull, there being no quotation during the first hour. May had a little scalping trade and opened unchanged at 37⅛c and fluctuated within ⅛c. Receipts were 195 cars.

Dullness was the only feature in the provision pit at the opening. Jan. pork started 2½c up at $15.15 on a steady hog market and sold to $15.2?½. Jan. lard unchanged to 2½c higher at $9.02½@9.05, and Jan. ribs a shade higher at $7.85 and advanced 2½c.

OPENING IN WALL STREET.

Dealings Well Distributed, but Prices About on Saturday's Level.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Dealings were fairly well distributed at the opening and some good-sized blocks changed hands, but the level of prices was almost exactly the same as at Saturday's close. Very few stocks changed more than ⅛.

Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and People's Gas were strong features, the latter rising 1½. Amalgamated Copper declined 1⅜ and Sugar a point. The western stocks were lower, but the southwesterns gained. Sugar rallied again to above Saturday. These diverse movements confused the traders, and business became dull pending a definite tendency.

The selling pressure decreased gradually and an upturn was aided by a rise from the lowest of 2⅜ in Northern Pacific preferred. Sugar rose a point. Pullman jumped 5 on one transaction. International Paper preferred lost 2, the common 1, North American 2 and General Electric and Lackawanna a point. With a reaction of 1½ in Northern Pacific preferred, prices yielded again on lethargic trading. Bonds were firm.

NEW TERMINAL SUBSTATION

Will Be Built at the North End of the Eads Bridge and Have Elevators.

Julius S. Walsh, president of the Terminal Association, said Monday that one of the plans contemplated in connection with the World's Fair improvements will be the erection of a substation by the Terminal Association on the levee near the west end of the Eads bridge. The structure will extend north from the bridge, and will cover a quarter of a block.

Mr. Walsh said that the plans for the station are being completed, and that it will be finished during the present year.

The new station will be equipped with elevators that will bring passengers up to the Third street level, and the street car line across the bridge will pass the upper floors of the new station.

NEW YORK A COPPER CENTER.

Metal Exchange Will Deal in Foreign and Domestic Product.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—A movement is on foot by which it is hoped to make New York a greater copper trading center. The project originated in the New York Metal Exchange, where to the present time dealings have been confined exclusively to lake copper. The latter is produced by a few large concerns, of which the largest, the Calumet and Hecla Co.'s, has a regular outlet through consuming channels for its product. In round numbers the total output of lake copper is about 50,000 tons a year, three-fifths of which is the product of the company above mentioned. The yearly production of all kinds of copper in the United States amounts to about 270,000 tons, the lake output consequently representing scarcely a fifth of the total.

It is proposed to change the rule and establish a contract through which dealings on a large scale, as other staples, will be practicable. Since there is no duty on foreign copper imported into the United States, the new contract, it is learned, will be made to include copper from all parts of the world, thus giving a total annual production of over 500,000 tons as a basis of operations in the metal. It is also said that the proposed contract will cover both the rough and refined metal on the basis of not less than 96 per cent of fine copper, metal testing under that not being agreed delivery. This radical change from present methods of dealing in copper on the exchange is expected by its projectors to open a new field for operation.

CASH FOR "STORE ORDERS."

Decision of Supreme Court Sustaining a Tennessee Statute.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—In the United States Supreme Court today two opinions were handed down by Justice Shiras sustaining the state law of Tennessee, making store orders redeemable in cash. The titles of the two cases decided were the Knoxville Iron Co. vs. Samuel Harbison and the Dayton Coal & Iron Co. vs. T. A. Barton.

The cases were appealed from a decision of the supreme court of the state and that decision, which sustained the law, was upheld by today's opinion. One of the opinions upheld the law as applied to state corporations and the other as applied to foreign corporations. Justices Brewer and Peckham dissented in both cases.

Silver Dime Oil Stock

AT 10c PER SHARE.

Remember, This Company Owns More Than Twice as Much Land On Spindle Top in the Proven Field Than Any Other Five or Ten Cent Company.

Saturday, Nov. 2 Is Positively the Last Day to Buy at 10 Cents.

Our first well is now rapidly reaching the oil stratum and will be due about Nov. 4th, and our stock will then be worth many times its present price. We are sure of a gusher because our land is proven gusher land, surrounded by gushers, in the very heart of Spindle Top Heights.

Our nearest neighbors are the M., K. & T. gusher, only 20 feet, with a capacity of 100,000 barrels daily, estimated worth over $10,000,000 a year. The Galveston Combination gusher, the greatest oil well in the world, with a capacity of 150,000 barrels of pure oil daily, is only 100 feet, and is estimated to be worth $15,000,000 a year.

Besides owning more than twice as much land on Spindle Top Heights in the proven field, we own an undeveloped tract on Spindle Top, another a little to the north of the hill, one at Sour Lake, where a flowing well has been struck; another at Big Hill and one at High Island, where oil has been found and indications are the best for duplicating Spindle Top Heights, all owned in fee simple, no royalties.

All money derived from the sale of the treasury stock is to be used for the further development, buying tank cars, building storage tanks and pipe lines for the proper marketing of its oil.

No less than fifty shares, $5.00 worth, will be sold to any one person. For further particulars call on or address

General Debility

It is dangerous for people whose stomachs are weak and digestion poor, to neglect it. It is a condition which involves and imperils the whole system. The loss of appetite, sour stomach, belching, sleeplessness and lack of ambition is the forerunner of the breaking down of the entire system. A deranged stomach will find immediate benefit from the use of

Eupepsia Tablets

A prescription of a specialist in convenient form and a positive cure for all kinds of stomach trouble caused from imperfect digestion.

One tablet swallowed with a little water before meals avoids all bad taste, stimulates the appetite and causes the gastric juice to act freely, tones the stomach and the whole digestive system.

ST. LOUIS, June 29, 1901.

I have been a sufferer of dyspepsia for a number of years. My druggist, Mr. J. C. Hafner, recommended Eupepsia Tablets, and I am pleased to say that this is the first remedy to give me relief.

"ARE YOU A MASON" CREATES MIRTH
AT THE CENTURY; AT OTHER THEATERS
NEW MELODRAMAS CAUSE THRILLS

THE WATCH ON THE RHINE, ACT III. GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

GEORGE RICHARDS CENTURY.

Are you a Mason?

If you are, you will laugh at the funny complications arising out of this question at the Century Theater this week. If you are not, you will laugh just the same.

And when you have had your laugh out and left the theater you will wonder what it was all about.

As a matter of fact the play isn't about anything. It is just a collection of nonsensical situations furnished by the playwright, Leo Ditrichstein, to give half a dozen clever persons an opportunity to display their fun-making ability. And they take advantage of every situation.

In itself there is nothing especially amusing in the fact that a father and son-in-law should both have deceived their wives and each other by pretending to be Masons. Of course, complications would naturally arise, but the complications might be very trite. And, to tell the truth, they are. You have seen the same thing in vaudeville sketches a score of times, but you probably never before saw them so adroitly woven into a single piece of work and so cleverly and consecutively developed.

Then, too, there are wheels within wheels in "Are You a Mason?" which gives Mr. Ditrichstein a chance to play a woman's part for an act and a half. He isn't as funny in the part as he was in "Charlie's Aunt," but he is still funny and creates many laughs.

The cleverest bit of work in the whole play is done by George Richards. His exit and entrance in the second act, when he starts out to run from Thirty-sixth street twice across Brooklyn bridge and back, and his entrance after accomplishing the feat are more than ludicrous. Thomas A. Wise also acts his part well and his comedy was of the brightest. Sally Cohen is about the most independent servant girl you ever saw. She makes every point tell. Gertrude Whitty, as the mother-in-law, was humorous in her make-up.

If you want a good laugh you will find it at the Century this week.

Affairs move swiftly and luridly in "The Power of Truth," the melodrama being presented at the Imperial this week. While it is a story of the persecutions of the truly good by the Ku-Klux Klan the program lays the scene in Missouri. However, this is probably only a bit of catering to local color on the part of the program maker, as the Ku-Klux were purely a southern product and did not operate in Missouri.

There are frustrated robberies, hand-to-hand fights with dirks, an abduction, an interrupted lynching, the attempted incineration of the hero and heroine in a burning mill that did not burn, thrilling rescues, a murder and a marriage for seriousness in the play, while for comedy there is a country dance and a Sis Kopkins type of girl who did heroic stunts when she was not singing coon songs.

The sneer of the principal villain did not fail to win unlimited hisses for him, and his wickedness was so realistically vile that it caused one impressionable woman in the audience to go into hysterics. The enunciation of the three characters, Judge Merritt, Josh Slowcomb and Zachariah Quimbly was so bad that no one could understand a word they said. The play is one that might make a hit in the one night stands through the country districts.

If you want to get a seat at the Grand this week you will do well to secure it early, for the promise is that there will be packed houses at each and every performance.

The attraction is Al Wilson in "The Watch on the Rhine." It is not new to St. Louis. That is one reason why it draws so well. Some of the songs, however, are new, and Mr. Wilson sings them a little better than ever.

It is a play that appeals to the people and the public showed its appreciation yesterday by packing the house twice. Mr. Wilson's company is well constituted to act the play and the appreciation of yesterday's audiences was most pronounced.

Havlins present for this week's attraction a new melodrama, "The Night Before Christmas"—a melodrama with a new thrill. The thrill comes when the father of a dissolute son, in his capacity as judge, sentences the son to death in the electric chair. Of course it develops later on that the son isn't the guilty preson, and the sentence is never carried into effect, and everything ends happily for all concerned.

"The Night Before Christmas" has another side, too. A sort of a "Way-Down-East" side that will add to its popularity. It brings in a Christmas tree and a lot of real, everyday people, together with enough comedy to make it go well. The children are also a feature. Two large audiences were more than pleased yesterday, and a good week will certainly follow.

At the Olympic tonight Annie Russell will present for the first time in St. Louis the romantic comedy-drama, "A Royal Family." The advance sale is one of the heaviest in the history of the house. The play is one that will certainly please.

The Columbia changes from elephants to lions today, and this afternoon the attendance at the first presentation of the new bill is large. There are a lot of other good things on the program.

Harry Bryant's burlesque company opened at the Standard Theater yesterday and gave two performances. It is a good burlesque entertainment with a whole lot of shapely girls and some new and clever specialties. Large audiences expressed their approbation of the entertainment.

W[illegible]le the Heinemann-Web stock compa[illegible] the Germania has been demonstr[illegible] so far this season that its appar[illegible]ng point lay along the line of come[illegible] more especially musical farce, last night's essay of Karl Gutzkow's ponderous religious controversy, "Uriel Acosta," showed the organization in its true light, namely, a complete dramatic entity.

Probably not one of the 1400 spectators in the house had any doubts about the quality of the performance five minutes after the curtain rose. The most painstaking preparations was apparent in every scene and the costumes of the play reflecting the somber customs and stern manners of the seventeenth century as well as the ornate scenery gave the eye a treat quite as profitable as the ear derived from the matchless lines which the famed author wove into his text.

Mr. Rudolf Horsky had the very declamatory part of Uriel Acosta, the young Jewish teacher whose newer philosophy would banish the sturdy faith of his fathers. Love, duty, ambition and belief in self are in a constant struggle for the mastery. He finds himself at odds with parental and churchly authority; estranges his friends, multiplies his enemies and in this over-increasing conflict death proves the only solution.

Herr Heinemann's portraiture of the aged Ribbi ben Akiba was touchingly solemn. The house hardly recognized Herr Welb in the dignified role of Dr. Silva, who finds all his goodly labors wanted on the strenuous young reasoner, Uriel, and the affecting picture which Frau Welb-Markham presented of Esther, Uriel's aged and blind mother moved the audience most strongly. Fraulein Neumann addressed herself intelligently and artistically to the interpretation of the part of Judith, Uriel's sweetheart, and Luli Euler's Baruch Spinoza, introduced mainly to lighten the serious tenor of the play, was a capital bit of acting.

On Wednesday night the attraction is the comic novelty, "Der Nachrum" (Posthumous Fame), which the management has just received from the Berlin Theater.

EASTERN TOURISTS HERE.
Returning From the West They Spend Sunday in St. Louis.

A party of 74 tourists from the East spent Sunday in St. Louis.

They were returning from a tour of the continent from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast. They traveled in a special train furnished by the Pennsylvania system.

The train was met at Union Station Sunday morning by A. T. Anderson, passenger agent for the Vandalia, who outlined a day's sightseeing for the party. Forest Park and the World's Fair site were visited during the afternoon.

The members of the party, which included both men and women, were from New York, New England, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. They left New York Sept. 23 and will reach there again Oct. 22. Throughout the trip they have lived all the time on their special train

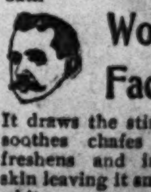

A man leaving St. Louis at 8:50 p. m. today will reach Joplin at 7:55 tomorrow morning, provided his ticket reads via the Frisco system. Or he can leave St. Louis at 10 p. m. and arrive at Joplin at 10:05 a. m. next day, via same route.

Obituary.

The friends of Mr. Edward A. Bokern were pained to learn last week of the death of his father, Anthony Bokern, which occurred a week ago today. The deceased was 74 years of age, and had been ailing for more than a year.

Mr. Bokern was a unique character in St. Louis in his time. He was born in Germany, came here when 13 years of age, and resided here 61 years, so that he was one of the oldest residents of the city. He was in the oyster business for over 40 years, and for 31 years kept an oyster house at 325 North Third stret, which was known popularly as "Tony's." He was the oldest oyster man in St. Louis, and many of the old residents, who never knew his last name at all, can remember how common, in the last generation, it was to hear the remark: "Let us go to Tony's and get some oysters."

VOTE YES ON THE CHARTER AMENDMENTS, ELECTION TOMORROW

We appeal to all voters to aid in the passage of the proposed amendments to the City Charter to be voted on at a special election to be held tomorrow, Tuesday, October 22, 1901.

They were prepared by the Commission for the Public Welfare, a non-partisan body of public-spirited citizens, who were assisted by able lawyers and by experts in every department affected by these amendments.

We urge a favorable vote, because:

We believe that they are wise, timely and of the utmost importance to the welfare of the City.

The benefits they will bring to the city are many.

They will stop the existing annual deficit of a million dollars in the municipal revenue.

They will permit us to reorganize our sewer system along modern, scientific and sanitary lines and make it adequate to meet the needs of the whole City.

They will cheapen street construction, permitting the making of cross streets and alleys at a cost which will not be burdensome to property owners.

They will enable us to keep our streets well cleaned and properly sprinkled throughout the whole city all the year round.

They will establish a system of boulevards over which it will be impossible for railways to get franchises except with the consent of owners.

They will protect and preserve the public ownership of the City Water Works.

They will increase the demand for labor at steady and profitable wages.

They will reduce the present excessive penalties attached to special tax bills, and enable the property owners to pay for improvements in installments running from three to seven years and carrying only six per cent interest until maturity, and only eight per cent thereafter instead of ten per cent and fifteen per cent, respectively, as at present.

They will prevent the interest on World's Fair bonds being charged against the City's general revenue, already insufficient to meet the urgent requirements of the public service.

St. Louis has announced to the Nations of the earth that it intends to hold the greatest exposition ever planned. Let us at the same time show them a New St. Louis, clean, well paved, beautified and healthful, presenting to our visitors the model American city. This we cannot do, unless you, by your votes, provide means.

Therefore, we entreat you to cast aside all partisan feeling, if any such you have, to throw off the apathy which has heretofore been a blight upon our community, to rise to the full measure of your civic duty and make St. Louis itself the best exhibit of the greatest exposition the world has ever known.
